Charley Dix Norman Ford

Sam Sly Jake Hyam

Adolphus Flimington, Barney O'Reilly

Kitty Manners Gladys Reed

Royal Fisher Nita Dearlove

Zingara Sylvia Thornhill

Aunt Jane Julia Bassett

Cynthia Meadows Margot Joyce

Charley Dix has a rich uncle, who has promised to leave him a legacy of £50,000, but when the old man dies all that is apparently bequeathed his nephew is a little image representing a heathen god. He throws it to the ground, and his sweetheart,

Cynthia, picks up a piece of paper, which proves to be the last will and testament of Charlie's uncle, leaving his nephew not only the idol, but also the £50,000. This smooths the way for Charlie's marriage with Cynthia, which had been opposed by the young lady's aunt.

The bulk of the work fell upon Mr. Norman Ford as Charlie, who never failed to do all that was required of him, his love-making to Cynthia was sincere, whilst his dejection at the loss of the legacy was a clever piece of acting. His numbers, "The Primrose Path" and "Farewell, Dear

Love," were well rendered, his powerful voice suiting him exceedingly well. From beginning to end Miss Margot Joyce as Cynthia Meadows played her part exceedingly well. She had many opportunities and made the most of them, particularly her devotion to Charlie. Her acting was enhanced by her beautiful clear voice, and her songs, "King of Love" and "Farewell, Dear Love," were re-demanded. Miss

Julia Bassett as the fussy little Aunt Jane was undertaken with just that spirit of independence and well-intentioned advice that was very needful. Miss Gladys Reed and Miss Nita Dearlove as Kitty Manners

and Royal Fisher undertook their respective parts with much intelligence. The comedy element was well sustained by Mr.

Jake Hyam as Sam Sly, who from start to finish kept the audience convulsed with laughter; and Mr. Barney O'Reilly was an excellent second, his love of sport. He has a good voice, and his song, "Well I Never," was one of the best numbers in the comedy.

A word of praise is due to the music, which is bright and tuneful, and was cleverly interpreted by a capital orchestra, under the direction of Vincent Saley.

DALSTON THEATRE AND J.

LANGDON LEE.

Mr. J. Langdon Lee's tenancy of the Dalston Theatre is about to expire. We do not know what the future has in store either for the theatre or for Mr. Langdon

Lee, but we do sincerely trust that circumstances will so shape themselves as to enable theatre-goers next autumn to find that gentleman still in possession. We

Emilie Finch, Mr. Slaine Mills and Mr.

doubt if any theatre proprietor or lessee

Arthur Leigh.

The play was enthusiastically received by a packed audience.

"Forgotten," Mr. Clifford Rean's latest play, noticed in last week's "Era" on its production at the Theatre Royal, Stratford, is this week doing business at the Elephant and Castle Theatre.

A proposal from Mr. W. Tallis as to the formation of an operatic and dramatic society at the Winter Gardens was not entertained by the Bournemouth Corporation.

The Theatre Royal, Woolwich, so Mr.

Harry Goodson tells us, is to close during

July, and open on August Bank Holiday

re-carpeted and re-upholstered.

"SWEET FANNY ADAMS"

Revue, in Three Scenes, Lyrics by Billy Leo, Produced, for the First Time in England, at the New Palace, Radcliffe, on June 9.

William Bung Mr. Tom Yates
Mabel, his Daughter, Miss May Mignon
Jonathan, his Son Mr. Billy Leo
Percy Skipton, his Nephew

Jonathan, a Barman Fred Shuff
Elsie, a Visitor Miss Kitty Curtis
Fanny Adams, a Revue Girl

"Sweet Fanny Adams" is from the battlefields of France, where it was one of the diversions which took Tommy out of himself, and helped him to forget for a brief moment the hardships and perils of military life. An expression of thanks from Major-General A. Solly Hood, commanding the 42nd Division, to which the entertainers belonged, is in the hands of Billy Leo, and the performance was witnessed, when in France, by Marshal Foch and Sir Douglas Haig.

The production at Radcliffe gave evidence of being brought up to date, and is a very bright, tuneful, and entertaining revue, effectively dressed and staged. The male members of the cast remain as when the revue was played in France, an added attraction now being the inclusion of ladies recruited from the profession at home. The sweet voice of Miss Sara Rosebury is heard in several numbers, and Miss May Mignon contributes catchy ditties in excellent voice. Miss Kitty Curtis possesses excellent vocal gifts, and along with Mr. Tom Yates renders a selection from "Il Trovatore." The infectious humours of Mr. Billy Leo and Mr. Fred Shuff convulsed the house. Many of the sallies between the pair emanate from the battlefield. Percy Lawler introduces a series of smart acrobatic dances cleverly. A capital chorus contribute to the general success attained. The revue, which is staged in two sets and a front cloth, should prove very successful.

BOSTOCK'S CIRCUS.

Bostock's Circus, under the directorship of Mr. Frank Bostock, which is touring the South of England, after an absence of eight years, paid Eastbourne a day's visit recently. Mr. Bostock has, with his usual judgment, collected for this his farewell tour through England talent of the highest order. Excellent acts, which gained considerable applause, were the jockey act of Mr. Thomas Fossett; the Bissiani Family of ladies and gentlemen, in their equestrian pot pourri act; Mr. Gustave, wire-walking act; troupe of moral American cowboys, in their Wild West sports; Mile. Florence Sergeant, W.R.A.F., who has collected over £1,000 for various war charities, in competitions on globe walking; Sergeant Wrigley, R.A.F., in feats of strength; Moxon, foot equilibrist; Rudolphe, in triple bar act; Mons. Louve, in an unique trapeze and whirlwind ladder act; and the Bros. Hickin, comedy jugglers. The evergreen equestrian number, "The Indian Chief," proved as popular as ever. The clowns, Rabbit and Tomato, created no end of mirth with their capital fooling, especially in their comical entrées. Felix, the ex-clown, who has attained the grand old age of 90 years, is travelling with this circus, where he is still working selling programmes.

An interesting side show is a miniature cart-horse of twenty-two inches in height, which rejoices in the name of "Goliath."

PRINCE OF WALES.—P. Moss' Empires, Ltd. (Birmingham), Ltd.; G. M. Mr. Philip Bodway, A. M., Mr. G. T. Bradbury. A friendly greeting awaited the Carl Rosa Company when it opened a three weeks' season here on Monday night with "La Tosca." In the presentation of Puccini's fine work, the honours were shared by Mesdames Beatrice Miranda and Dorothy Taylor, Messrs. Hughes Macklin, Hebdon Foster, and Geo. Gorse. Two operas new to Birmingham will be put on during the visit—Alfred de Keyser's "Stella Maria" and Reginald Somerville's "Antoine."

BORDESLEY PALACE.—P. Moss' Empires, Ltd.; L. Mr. & Mrs. F. G. Kimberley; A. M., Mr. John Crandace. "Tommy's French Wife," which Mr. E. Edward Ward puts on at the Palace, has a grip and a movement which appeal powerfully to the Palace public. The material is drawn from events and emotions of the passing hour. Messrs. Tom C. Leybourne, Robert Savin, Villiers Stanley, Harry Tibbitt, and T. Edward Thorne, Misses Evelyn M. Walton, Cissie Cleveland, Genna Lyndon, and Gipsie Earle, give the right emphasis to the interpretation.

EMPIRE.—P. Moss' Empires, Ltd.; E. M. Mr. Henry Raymond; Asst. M., Mr. Philip Giles. A bill of all-round attractiveness is put on at the Empire. There are the finished vocalisation and instrumentation of the Femina Quartette, whose fine performances explain the popularity of one of the most striking artistic developments of vaudeville; Dan Rolyat, whose claims to favour are weighted by local associations; the D'Ormondes, Herbert La Martine, the McNaughtons, and other well approved performers.

GAILETY.—P. Mr. B. Kennedy; A. M., Mr. W. H. Hebdon. The Chung Ling Soo mysteries are being practised here by Li Sing Foo; gymnastic feats by the Bellinis; and specialties by Musical Lento, the McLean Twins, Wee George Beck, and Alice Gill, assure an agreeably diversified programme.

THEATRE ROYAL HIPPODROME.—M. Mr. J. H. Hamilton. Featuring on a first-class bill here we have Tom Edwards, the clever ventriloquist, and his company, in a comedy act. Another turn of exceptional merit, supplied by Lake and Barrasford in "Vivacious vocalism"; in addition, the Dauntton-Shaw Troupe; Bert Weston, comedian; Clifford Westwood, in a Scotch comedy, "The Impresario"; George Wilbey, impressionist; Christine Roy, the dashing principal boy; and O'Brien and Lady, complete.

MANCHESTER.

THEATRE ROYAL.—L. The United Theatres Co., Ltd.; M. D., Mr. John Hart; A. M., Mr. Edmondstone Shirra. Mr. Leslie Kyle is presenting here the well-known comedy farce, "The Girl from Ciro's," which is very well played by a distinguished cast, including Miss Mabel Hirst, Miss Nellie Bouvier, Miss Mona Ainsman, Mr. George Beaby (in his original part of M. Lamerte), and Mr. Leslie Kyle as Dupont.

PRINCES.—P. The United Theatres Co., Ltd.; M. D., Mr. John Hart; A. M., Mr. George Lee. Here also, farce is to be seen, the attraction being Walter Elliot's success, "A Little Bit of Fluff." Mr. Lyon Hastings appears as Bertram Tully, and the other members of the cast lack nothing for the necessary light talent which makes for complete success. Miss Nellie Bowman, who is the Ursula of the piece, precedes the performance in a series of character sketches.

UNION THEATRE.—P. Messrs. Broadhead & Son; A. M., Mr. Wm. L. Granger. Mr. F. Marriott Watson's able company, including himself and wife, are appearing here in Margaret McDonald's Colonial drama, "The Bushranger's Daughter." The production is interesting and popular.

ROYAL OSBORNE.—P. Messrs. Broadhead & Son; A. M., Mr. Jas. Bearely. A big turn here is Miss Marie Ambrose, mezzo, supported by an accomplished instrumental quartet, and presented by Major Harvey Bathurst. Other good things on the bill are Fred Carr's electrical chicken; Lue Joyce, vocalist; Bros. Leo, comedians; Shack and Maidie, in roll juggling; Tom Henry Whiteley Four, in poty; Tom Lloyd, comedian; and Fred Martinette and Josie Renee, in comedy.

ARDWICK EMPIRE.—M. D., Sir Oswald Stoll; A. M., Mr. A. C. Duncan. An excellent bill here includes Malcolm Scott, the popular comedian; the "The Xosies," sensational gymnasts; Josephine La Barre at the piano; De Busse, Mlle. Cameo, Lucan and McShane, Edgar Curtis, and the Laurels Quartet.

HULME HIPPODROME.—Sole P., Messrs. W. H. Broadhead & Son; G. M., Mr. Winstanley; K. M., Mr. Hearn; A. M., Mr. J. O'Farrell. Negotiations for Touring Contract Suspended—A Check to Apartment Profiters—New Productions by the Dozen—Shakespeare Al Fresco.

Touring Contract Disagreement.

Negotiations for a standard contract between the Actors' Association and the Touring Managers' Association and Theatrical Managers' Association, we regret to learn, have been broken off owing to the failure to reach an agreement on the points submitted. The difference between the proposals on both sides will be seen by reference to the suggested contract submitted by the Actors' Association and the counter-proposals of the managerial associations printed in another column.

The position will be discussed at a special general meeting to be held on July 6. The place of meeting will be decided later.

We must confess to a feeling of disappointment with regard to the managers' rehearsal clause, which claims a week free rehearsal when the tour is for six weeks or less, and two free rehearsals when the tour exceeds six weeks. It practically amounts to no payment at all for rehearsals, and is very seldom indeed that a tour is undertaken for a period of six weeks or less, and even if it is the tour is usually extended by additional bookings.

The clause which provides for no payment for rehearsals while the actor is otherwise engaged is sound. The great hardship of free rehearsals is that the artist is working without earning, but if he is playing at night rehearsals during the day for the manager with whom he is fulfilling an engagement might well be conceded.

The two contracts bristle with difficulties. The proposals of both sides are capable of considerable modification, and it is hoped that a free discussion of the points raised, which we will be glad to give the use of our columns, will lead to a complete agreement.

The A.A. Secretary.

We are glad to announce that Mr. Alfred Lugg has recovered from his illness, and is back at his post.

Apartments on Tour.

The exorbitant charges for holiday apartments has prompted the suggestion that under Section 6 of the Rent Act, 1915, any excess of rent which is more than 25 per cent. above pre-war figures, is recoverable. The drafting of the section is not quite clear in the case of apartments where rent and attendance are made a combined charge, but where a furnished house is taken without attendance, the tenant has a clear right of recovery if he can prove any charge in excess of 25 per cent. above the pre-war figure.

The touring actor usually finds it necessary to stipulate for attendance at his lodgings, but if that could be done without, it would be quite practicable for the Actors' Association to bring a test case, and thus secure their members from the ruinous prices which will otherwise be charged at the seaside and other popular resorts.

Productions by the Dozen.

In the interval between now and the autumn Sir Alfred Butt will be concerned with the production of four new musical comedies and two plays in London, and no fewer than six other plays in the provinces. At the end of July he will withdraw "The Boy" from the Adelphi Theatre in the 99th week of its run, and will follow it with another of Sir Arthur Pinero's famous farces set to music, namely, "In Chancery."

The new version will be by Sir Arthur and Mr. Fred Thompson, and will be entitled, "Who's Who?" Messrs. Howard Talbot and Ivor Novello have written the music, and Mr. Clifford Grey the lyrics. Miss Nellie Taylor and Miss Cicely Debenham will be included in the cast. "Who's Who?" will be produced by Mr. J. A. E. Malone, the dances being arranged by Mr. Willie Warde, who was for so many years associated with the late George Edwards's successes.

The Garrick's New Production.

Sir Alfred Butt and Mr. Percy Hutchinson having arranged with Mr. J. L. Sacks for the production of the new musical comedy, "Nobody's Boy," at the Garrick, in July, "The Luck of the Navy" will be transferred to another theatre, prior to its production in New York at the Manhattan Opera House, by Mr. Percy Hutchinson, in October.

Shakespeare Al Fresco.

The firm of Eugene Stafford and Hubert Woodward have just outlined a very interesting plan for a series of pastoral performances of sundry Shakespeare plays. These open-air productions, all to be strongly cast, are to include "As You Like It," "Twelfth Night," "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and happily, "Two Gentlemen of Verona" and "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

A Theatre Auction.

All sorts of articles of the "furnishment," viz., pianos, electric lights, scenery, etc., etc., belonging to the Dalston Theatre, will be sold, on the premises, by Messrs. Drysdale, Nurse and Company at 12 sharp to-morrow (Thursday). We all hope to see Mr. Langdon Lee—who has run the theatre so well—soon back in managerial harness.

A Frisky Play.

The latest piece secured by Mr. Charles B. Cochran—his newest addition, in fact, his several other pending productions—a coster comedy written by Edward Baskin, and entitled "Cherry." The "by" "The Gideon. It is to be hoped a production this play will be a "ripe" one.

Holiday.

Howard's "Belle of the Year" shed its 20th year of our at the Lyceum Theatre, Sheffield, on Saturday, having played to a phenomenal box business, in spite of the tropical weather. The company, which has been touring without a break right through the year, is now taking a well-earned four-week rest, and resumes business again on July 17.

In addition to this, Mr. Howard is sending out a South company, which opens at Taunton on July 21. Meantime his London company of "The Belle of New York" is still doing remarkable business at the Lyceum.

D'Artagnan of the Air.

Mr. Robert Lorraine was the recipient of a unique honour at Drury Lane the other evening, when a number of Allied "aces" attended in force to see his remarkable portrayal of Cyrano, who might be termed "the D'Artagnan of the Air." The fliers present, including Lorraine himself, had accounted for the downfall of no fewer than 42 Hun aeroplanes.

Oscar Asche as Gretchen Greener.

The creator and continuer of "Chu Chin Chow" at His Majesty's has just been describing to the writer the complete plot, story and construction of his latest new play. This play is not an Oriental one this time, but a dash-away drama dealing with Truly Rural Old England. Its scenes will be of the Deady Sadler-Cecil Aldin type, with episodes showing the hunting field, cock fighting, harvesting, homing, and leading up to a runaway match at Gretchen Green.

Due at Daly's.

Asked whether this go-ahead, glowing scenery, Gretchen Greener play would be done at Daly's, Mr. Asche replied: "Who can tell? Bobby Brett is still running there—and nearing its 1,000th performance—"The Maid of the Mountains" which I staged for him. After that he must do there "The Southern Maid," by Clayton Calthrop and Harry Graham, which I also staged for him, and then—well, as I said before, who knows?"

On to "Mecca."

And then actor-author-producer-manager Asche proceeded to show some beautiful scene models for his new and gorgeous Eastern play "Mecca," which, as the "Era" stated erewhile, will be his and the happily-recovering Miss Lily Branton's next production at His Majesty's some time—say a year or two—hence!

A Record Box Collection.

Mr. E. H. Bull has sent a cheque for £10 to the Actors' Benevolent Fund, having collected that substantial sum in the Fund's box at his Grand Theatre, Wolverhampton. This is the largest amount collected in any theatre in a Fund Box.

Punch Postponement.

Owing to an accident on the stage Mr. Charles has been compelled to postpone the first performance by the Punch and Judy Players at the Comedy from Tuesday to this (Wednesday) evening, at 8.15. The tickets issued for Tuesday will be available for this evening.

Stage Golfers.

Play in the first competition for the Oscar Asche Cup took place over the Ashford Manor Club's course on Friday. Mr. Fred Leslie won the trophy with a net score of 82. Mr. Arthur Anderson was second with 84 net. Other competitors were Messrs. Ernest Graham, George Grossmith, Samuel Livesey, Eustace Ponsonby, and Thorpe Bates.

Bath B.E.S.S.

The Bath branch of the British Empire Shakespeare Society was honoured yesterday afternoon by a visit of the well-known dramatic critic, Mr. S. R. Littlewood, who gave a lecture at the Theatre Royal on "Home Life in Shakespeare" to over 700 invited guests of the society. To many his visit was doubly interesting, as Mr. Littlewood's father, the Rev. W. E. Littlewood, was for many years the vicar of St. James's Church, Bath, and the early childhood of "Astravane" was spent in the Queen City of the West.

Silver Wedding Celebration.

On Thursday last, during an interval in the second performance, on the occasion of their silver wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Vendome, the popular manager and his wife, were presented by Mr. H. H. Carrad, J.P., on behalf of the staff and friends, with a silver tea service and salver, silver-backed hair-brushes and mirror, and numerous silver candlesticks, vases, &c. In addition, little Miss Dorothy V. Vendome was the recipient of a silver serviette ring and spoon. After the performance Mr. and Mrs. Vendome entertained their friends and the staff on the stage, when guests to the number of over one hundred were present.

Covent Garden Opera.

The Grand Opera Syndicate has so far been very fortunate in the success achieved by its tenors, which, as everyone knows, are not to be had for the asking. Signor Martinelli, M. Anseau, and Mr. Burke have all exceeded expectations, and if Signor Dolci, who is expected to make his Covent Garden debut on Saturday, lives up to his American reputation, opera-goers will have every cause for congratulation.

To-night (Wednesday) is a Melba night, with "Faust," and on Thursday "Il Barbiere di Siviglia." On Friday we are to have a repetition of "Aida," with the same cast as before, except that Signor Martinelli is to be the Radames, a part for which he has a strong bias.

Popular Actor's Golden Jubilee.

The friends of Mr. Story-Gorton, whose number is legion, will regret to learn that he went on Monday into the West London Hospital, Hammersmith, for an operation for the removal of an arthritic growth on his right foot. He expects to be there three or four weeks, and will be glad to see any friends on any visiting day.

On the 21st Mr. Story-Gorton attains the 50th anniversary of his first appearance in the profession. That interesting event took place at Bedford, on June 21, 1869, under the management of the late Fred Neebe, of the Exeter and Bath Theatres.

Kennington Well Catered For.

Mr. Ernest C. Rolls informs us that he is so satisfied with the result of his experiment at the Kennington Theatre that he has resolved to continue to run the theatre on West End lines with big musical attractions. On Monday, as will be seen by our notice in another column, he presented, by arrangement with Mr. J. L. Sacks, the Drury Lane production of "Shanghai," which he proposes to run for a short season whilst he is preparing another big revue.

Demobilised.

Mr. Juan Buonaparte has just been demobilised after 4 years' service as War Office official, and hopes to resume work on the stage in the near future.

Repertory at Rochdale.

A new departure is inaugurated this week at the Theatre Royal, Rochdale, where Miss Hero Hathaway begins a six weeks' repertory season of plays by notable authors. Miss Hathaway's company will occupy the boards for the first four weeks, and Mr. Rupert Lister and Miss Cecile Barclay for the remaining fortnight, playing three pieces each week.

This week's plays are "The Lion and the Mouse," "Mrs. Dane's Defence," and "Moths."

Wimbledon Theatre.

After a visit next week of "Cash on Delivery," with Stanley Brett, the Wimbledon Theatre will be closed for a month, reopening on July 28. Among the excellent attractions that Mr. Mulholland has secured for his autumn season are the Carl Rosa Opera Co., Matheson Lang in "The Purple Mask," "Going Up," "The Boy," and "The Man From Toronto."

"The Admiral's Daughter."

Mr. W. V. Garrard's new play, "The Admiral's Daughter," recently produced at the Grand Theatre, Plymouth, will be seen for the first time in the London district on Monday next, at the Theatre Royal, Stratford, E. The cast will include Mesdames Bertha Kingston, Sheila Ross, Lorenz D'Arcy, and Eve More; Messrs. Herbert Morgan, Leonard Aardale, Harry Gilbey, and the author.

Telling the Tale.

Miss Gladys Archbutt is busily engaging a first-class company for the autumn tour of the musical farce, "Telling the Tale." Miss Archbutt, it may be added, has lately opened a smart shop in Piccadilly Arcade for gowns, millinery, lingerie, &c., and is also making a specialty of designing and executing stage dresses.

Accrington Theatre Improvements.

The Grand Theatre, Accrington, concluded a most successful season on Saturday, and will be closed for extensive alterations. The most notable of many improvements will be the substitution of a new balcony for the gallery.

New Edmund Kean Play.

Prior to its production in London, Mr. Cecil Barth is producing at the Prince's Theatre, Manchester, next Monday, a new play, by Arthur Shirley, founded on the life of Edmund Kean. The play deals particularly with the difficulties of the great actor, from the time that he was playing in barns and booths in Dorset to the time when, at Drury Lane, in 1814, he established himself as the greatest actor of his generation.

Mr. H. A. Saintsbury is to appear in the title-role, supported by an exceptionally strong company, including Mr. William Parren, Mr. Edward Cooper, Mr. W. R. Staveley, Miss Louise Regis, and Miss Claire Pauncefort. Other towns to be visited include Sheffield, Nottingham, Glasgow, Newcastle, and Liverpool.

"Forgotten."

In our notice last week of "Forgotten" we omitted to state that the production was that of Mr. T. Edward Ward. The play is being toured, and promises to be one of Mr. Ward's biggest successes.

The Inverness Theatre.

Since Mr. E. Graham-Falcon purchased the Theatre Royal, Inverness, last autumn, he has made considerable alterations and improvements, with the result that excellent business has been done. The theatre is closed until August 4, in order to have the dress circle entirely reconstructed, and the building will also be re-seated, and the lighting capacity greatly increased. A list of bookings, including many of the latest successes, has been secured for the autumn.

Shakespeare for School Children.

Mr. Charles Gulliver is interesting himself in promoting the use of Shakespeare plays as a means of education by giving the free use of his halls in various districts for performances of the poet's plays by school children. The first will be given at the Woolwich Hippodrome to-morrow (Thursday) at 2 o'clock, when scenes from the plays will be presented.

The experiment will be continued at the Hammersmith Palace the following afternoon, when scholars from the Addison Gardens School will perform "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The children have provided their own dresses, and are very enthusiastic. All seats will be free, and will be occupied mainly by other scholars and parents.

"SHANGHAI" AT KENNINGTON.

The spectacular operetta above named, which had a good run at Drury Lane last year, is the attraction at the Kennington Theatre this week and onwards. The brilliant dresses, beautiful scenery, charming music and popular humour of the production roused the large audience present on Monday night to a display of rare enthusiasm. Mr. Joe Nightingale in the character of Hu Du is responsible for the major portion of the fun, and receives valuable support from Miss Elsa Bliss as Pan Pan. Mr. Kenneth Ware acts well as Kin Foo, and his fine singing is greatly appreciated. Miss Louise Brooks makes an attractive and fascinating Sen Sen, and uses a sweet soprano voice very effectively. Mr. Ian Colquhoun is well cast as Wong Ho, and well deserved the triple recall that rewarded him for his artistic rendering of the song "Home." Mr. Charles Carter does well as Ali Sing, and similar credit can be given to Miss Phoebe Field as Zu Zu. The chorus is excellent, and the orchestra under the direction of Coa. Dowling play efficiently.

DEATH OF WEEDON GROSSMITH.

After an illness of some weeks, Mr. Weedon Grossmith, the actor, playwright and painter, passed away on Saturday morning, at the age of 67, deeply mourned by many friends. His death is a severe loss to the stage, for his place as a comedian of exceptional ability is one that will not be easily filled. His character studies linger in the memory as admirable bits of stage work marked by genuine humour and close observation. But characteristic of all our best comic actors, the humour which he had at his command was very nearly associated with the pathetic, and his popularity with every kind of audience is easily accounted for.

Mr. Weedon Grossmith was educated at Hampstead, and began life as a painter, frequently exhibiting pictures at the Royal Academy and the Grosvenor Gallery. At the age of 33 he adopted the stage as a profession, appearing at Liverpool with Rosina Vokes's Company, which he accompanied to America in 1886, where he appeared as Lord Arthur Pomeroy in "A Fantomime Rehearsal." In 1888 Irving selected him to play Jacques Strup to his Robert Macaire at the Lyceum. Engagements with Tree and Mrs. John Wood followed, and in 1891 came the famous triple bill, which included "A Fantomime Rehearsal," which held its own for a couple of years. The season began at Terry's, and was the joint venture of Grossmith and Brandon Thomas. But whatever changes were made in the programme "A Fantomime Rehearsal" retained its place.

MR. WEEDON GROSSMITH.

He had another excellent opportunity in Pinero's play, "The Amazons." When Mr. Frohman revived it in 1912 Mr. Grossmith was the only member of the original cast to take up his old part. Since then Mr. Grossmith has played a great variety of parts, while his last regular appearance was with Miss Gladys Cooper at the Playhouse in "The Mischiefed Lady," in which he gave a remarkably clever study of a lunatic with Napoleonic delusions. But none of these was financially so successful as his own play, "The Night of the Party," in which he played over 700 times, while his wife, Miss May Palfrey, never missed a performance for nearly two years.

Mr. Grossmith never lost his love for the studio, and many of the pictures which he exhibited were of real artistic merit. Quite recently he had been engaged on a picture of Miss Iris Hoey in the costume of an orange seller outside old Sader's Wells Theatre, and a portrait of his daughter is in this year's exhibition of the Royal Academy.

The funeral will be at Golders-green on Thursday morning, and will be absolutely private. A memorial service will be held later.

A.A. COUNCIL MEETING.

The usual weekly meeting of the Council was held at 32, Regent-street, on Friday, June 15, when there were present Messrs. Sydney Valentine (in the chair), Alfred Goddard, A. Harding, Steerman, J. Fisher, White, Henry Vibart, Ernest Hendrie, F. J. Arlton, Norman McKinnel, Julian F. J. Lennox, W. G. Fay, C. V. France, and Sydney Paxton, Miss Lillian Braithwaite, Miss Lucy Sibley and Miss Coleman. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed, and the chairman signed same. The assistant secretary read letter from members of the Empire chorus, and was instructed by the Council as to the reply.

West-End Standard Contract.

A question was asked as to when the Standard Contract would be finally drafted. Mr. Goddard replied that the draft was now in the hands of the solicitors to the West-End Managers' Association for final approval.

The Cochran Case.

Mr. Valentine reported to the meeting that in view of the report that Mr. Cochran was engaging members of the Association he wrote him personally as follows:—Dear Mr. Cochran, As I understand that you have engaged recently several members of the Actors' Association, I take it that you have withdrawn your boycott of our Union. I shall be glad if you will give me an appointment to see you on the matter, as I am anxious to have the trouble definitely settled in an amicable manner.

To which Mr. Cochran replied as follows:—

I acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 6th inst., but I do not think an interview will serve any good purpose. In view of this the resolution passed at His Majesty's Theatre on April 27 would come into operation.

The Standard Touring Contract. Mr. Valentine reported to the Council the result of his interview with the Joint Committee of the Theatrical and Touring Managers' Associations. In view of their refusal to meet the Association's representatives in any of their proposals, the Council decided to publish their proposals and the counter-proposals put forward by the managerial Associations and to call a general meeting of the Association for July 6 for the purpose of discussing the situation.

THE PLAY IN PARIS.

Polish Legend for Matinee—Artists' Syndicate—Strikes in France—Much Money Spent on Amusements.

(FROM "THE ERA" SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, June 14.—Le Théâtre Classique et Moderne, founded a few years before the war by Mlle. Jeanine Zorelli, gave on Thursday afternoon at the Théâtre du Gymnase the first performance of "La Reine Wanda," a Polish legend, by André Legrand, for which the late Camille Erlanger had written accompanying music. The matinee was, in fact, a gala to the memory of this gifted musician, the proceeds being in favour of war victims.

The piece is taken from the legend of the young queen Wanda, daughter of Cracow, the founder of Cracovie, who was in love with Karl, a silk merchant. He counsels her to refuse the credit asked for by her Germanic invasion, asserting that her neighbours on the opposite bank of the Vistula had no belligerent projects, their sole object being to introduce their wares and their culture. But Karl was no other than Rittiger, Prince of Saxony, whose offerings Wanda had already refused. He makes himself known and proposes a union. But she indignantly spurns his proposition, swearing to sacrifice herself for the good of Poland. Rittiger departed with a declaration of war. The poor little queen could not survive her shame at the love she felt for such a man, and amidst the singing of the oodines of the Vistula she sought oblivion in its waters. The people, encouraged by Bozenna, took an oath on the tomb of the queen, who appeared in a vision, to defend their country even to death. As a matter of fact, Queen Wanda to-day holds the same place in the Polish mind as Jeanne d'Arc in France, and her tomb has been a shrine since the eight century.

The work is full of promise for the young author, though the third act lacks action and the final tirade is too long. Mlle. Jeanine Zorelli figures with authority as Bozenna. Mlle. Valpreux, of the Comédie Française, was sympathetic and graceful as the confiding young queen, and Albert Reyal was tender and brutal by turns in the rôle of the hypocritical prince. It is not a work for the evening show, but admirable for the propaganda matinee.

Actors' Union Syndicated.

The Union des Artistes, founded by Felix Huguenet, will meet next week, when the organisation will probably be dissolved. This body was opposed to any affiliation with the Trades' Union Council, but as so many members went over to the new performers' syndicate, which is to join up with the Fédération du Spectacle (embracing stage hands, electricians, musicians, and all corporations connected with the entertainment profession), and so under the banner of the Confederation du Travail, the leaders consider their union, so moderately framed, has no further object in existing. They realise they cannot have a society composed only of officers. It is a triumph for the professional syndicate now in its infancy.

The dancers at the opera have their federation, and there is again an agitation in the ranks, a strike being threatened unless a better minimum salary is forthcoming. The director, M. Rouché, has given no decision yet, hoping he can obtain a larger subvention from the State, which should be two million francs a year, instead of the present 800,000 frs., he declares, if he is to meet all the claims of the staff and the new taxes of the Government. However, some opposition is expressed by provincial legislators to any increase in the allowances for the subventioned theatres of Paris. It is justly alleged as unfair to pay from the public funds money for the upkeep of theatres, whether for the sake of Art or not, which only a small number of the population of the country are able to enjoy. One French M.P. has humorously contended that if the State assists in running the Opera in Paris, mainly frequented by the well-to-do, it should provide a travelling circus for the periodical entertainment of the inhabitants in the smaller towns.

Strikes Bring Reduced Receipts.

The theatres have suffered somewhat from the labour troubles during June, and there has been a falling off in the attendance. This is due to the strike of the workers on the underground railways, buses, and tramcar services, causing a restricted circulation on the various lines, and complete stoppage after 7 o'clock in the evening. Although the controversy is not settled at time of writing, there is an amelioration in the conditions of public transport, and it is anticipated the service will be normal within a few days—unless the threatened general strike is an accomplished fact.

Poor-rate Shows a Record.

Business was exceptionally good during May, and the Board of Public Charities, known as the Assistance Publique, which collects 10 per cent. on gross receipts at all entertainments (in addition to the war tax of approximately another 10 per cent. taken by the State), reports the total of the "Droits des Pauvres" as being 1,997,000 frs. for the month, whereas it was well under the million in May, 1918. It is calculated, however, that it costs as much as 50 per cent. for expenses of collection, so that the whole amount does not go to the poor and upkeep of hospitals. The public now pays these two contributions, the amount being figured separately, in addition to the price of admission at the majority of the theatres.

Miscellaneous.

"L'Occident" of Kistematckers has been withdrawn at the Ambigu, and replaced by the broad farce, "Le Système D," which was produced here in 1917.

A revue, by Lucien Boyer and Bataille Henri, "Merci tout de même," will be offered next week at the Cigale, which M. R. Flatau is again directing. "L'Indiscret," the three-act comedy, in prose, by E. See, will be presented at the Comédie Française within a few days, having been taken into the repertoire of the House of Molière. A short play in verse, "Le Petit Chaperon Rouge," by Gaudier and Claude Gevel, will have its première on the same occasion.

A musical version of E. Arène and Francis de Croisset's "Paris New York," by Robert Alger, is to be given on Wednesday at the Trianon.

The Théâtre Antoine has closed for the summer, it having been decided, in view of strikes and dog days, to postpone the revival of "Aux Jardins de Murcie" until next season.

THE DRAMA IN ITALY.

Niccodemi's New Work—An Italian Play in Vienna.

(FROM "THE ERA" SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

ROME, June 11.—Although not a masterpiece, Dario Niccodemi's new play, "Acidalia," produced at the Quirino Theatre, is likely to have a long run. Niccodemi is an experienced writer for the theatre, and can generally be relied upon to produce a well-written play. In his latest effort his central character is a young philosopher, who thoroughly believes in the equality of the sexes. He is married, but that does not prevent him from making love to other women. His wife, however, remains faithful to him, much to his annoyance. He endeavours to instil his theory of the equality of the sexes into all and sundry, including his wife, and when he fails to convince her to carry out his precepts, he leaves her. One day, however, he discovers that the faithfulness of his wife and others had been an illusion. He had been so absorbed in his theories that he had noticed nothing. From that moment he is cured; he throws all his books and writings away and starts life afresh as a vain man. Niccodemi relies more on his lines than on his plot. The acting was good. Gandusio, Almirante, Pini, Ricci, all deserve praise for their sound work.

Italian Play Goes to Austria.

Rossi di San Secondo is to have the distinction of being the first Italian author whose play will be performed in Austria since the armistice. His "Marionette, che passione," which was such a success at the Argentina Theatre in Rome, has been translated into German, and is to be produced at the Deutsche Folkstheater in Vienna. The management has invited the author to Vienna, personally to supervise the production.

A. G. B. S. Conference in Rome.

The seventh conference organised by the Society of Authors is to take place at the Argentina Theatre. The subject will be George Bernard Shaw and the Theatre.

"YES, UNCLE" REJUVENATED.

His clothes were, we suppose, a little shabby after 805 appearances in public, otherwise "Uncle" at the Shaftesbury needed little living up. Fortunately, except for four or five numbers and a few new tunes the show remains much as it was on the first night. It is still one of the merriest in London, and a formidable rival to the sunshine outside any day. Even the cast apparently continue to enjoy the fun of playing it, for the "new edition" went with a rare swing on Friday night. There are two new rattling good numbers for Mr. Norman Griffen. They are called "Demobbed" and "Soldier Boy," the former is one of the best things in the production. It is most amusingly written, and imitatively rendered. Mr. Griffen never has a dull moment as Bobby Summers, and kept the house roaring with laughter all the time he was on the stage. There is something of those witty topical duets for Mr. Davey Burnaby and "Bobby." They were recalled time after time on Friday, and the new verses seemed inexhaustible.

The widow is now played with charm by Miss Evelyn Drewe, and her new song, "Billeted," though amusing, is not up to "Widows are wonderful," which ought to be reinstated. Miss Mimi Crawford continues her delightful performance as Nichette; Mr. Douglas Byng is splendid as her impetuous lover; and Mr. Robert Nainby and Miss Alexia Bassian are as entertaining as ever as Casablanca and the passionate Lolita. Mr. Fred Leslie and Miss Maudie Andrews are at their best in the clever "Quarrelling" song in the second act, and excellent support is also given by Mr. Victor Gouret, Mr. Frank Hector, Mr. Harry Bentham, and Miss Gladys Homfrey.

"HALF-WAY TO HAPPINESS."

This little piece, described as a protean fantasy in a prologue, one act, and epilogue, by Mr. Edgar Bruce, was produced at the Rehearsal Theatre, Maiden-lane, on Friday, the 6th inst. It serves principally as a vehicle for the display of Mr. Edgar Bruce's undoubted talents as a protean actor. After a short prologue, wherein Mr. Edgar Bruce as a Jester and Miss Hilda Feyerel as a Gipsy introduce their theme, the play proper, with its scene laid in a village inn, commences. Into this inn, over which the fair Marian presides, enter successively an old pedlar, Captain Jenkin (of s.s. Penguin), Halsdon Montague (an old actor), Old Bill (of Better 'Ole fame), and Giovanni, an Italian minstrel. All these parts are played by Mr. Edgar Bruce, with a nice sense of character and truth to nature, the embodiment of Old Bill being particularly successful. There is a slight but connected plot, wherein each of the characters has a raison d'être, and the denouement is reached when the Italian minstrel recognises Marian as his long-lost daughter. The piece contains plenty of honest laughs, and with the introduction of a little more action during Mr. Bruce's short absences from the stage, should have all the elements of a popular success. Mr. Bruce receives excellent assistance from Miss Feyerel, and the little play was most favourably received.

A DANCING MATINEE.

A very successful matinee was given on Saturday at the Public Hall, Croydon, in aid of the Royal Female Orphanage, Beddington, by Miss Ruth French and her pupils. Miss French herself, who appeared in the Drury Lane pantomime, and is at present starring with M. Wania in "The Latest Craze," is not only a finished danseuse, but evidently an excellent teacher. A long programme included speciality dances by M. Wania and Miss Ruth French; three scenes, "Morning to Night," daintily danced by Miss Pauline Aveline, Miss Koo Koo Duncan, Miss Dorothy Chapman, Miss Joan Taylor, Miss Jean Jean Marmier, and Misses C. Jackson and C. Upton; "The Seasons," Misses Hester Deives-Broughton, Christine Jackson, Ellen White, and Rachel Deives-Broughton performing charming exponents; and "A Flower Girl's Dream," given here last year, and just as sweet and appealing as ever. Clarice Upton's Pierrot dance was well done, as was also "Wild Thyme," song and dance, by Cozette and Jean Jean Marmier. Very enjoyable, too, was pretty little Miss Dorothy Chapman's "Buttercups and Daisies," song and dance; and "Hullo, New York!" by Miss Joan Collins and chorus was another good item. Joan Taylor's cymbal dance and Marie Bee's rag-time number were popular, and others who did well were Stephanie Taylor, Joan Collins, Phyllis Chapman, Noreen Worley, and Margery Colegate, and little Bobby Thomas an especial favourite. A presentation to Miss French from her pupils was evidence of their regard.

Playgoers' Ball.

Theatre and music hall will contribute contingents to the ball organised by the Playgoers' Club at Princes Galleries, Piccadilly, this (Wednesday) evening. Among the many well-known ladies who will be present are Miss Phyllis Bedells, Miss Lillian Braithwaite, Miss José Collins, Miss Phyllis Dare, Miss Madge Saunders, Miss Ivy Shilling, Miss Jessie Winter, and Miss Clarice Mayne, who will doubtless bring with her the ever-popular "That."

RAILWAY TRAVELLERS' ORGANISATION.

DEMAND FOR PRE-WAR RATES.

An enthusiastic meeting of representatives of a number of associations was held at the Central Hall, Westminster, on Saturday, in support of the movement for a reduction in the cost of railway travelling. Mr. C. F. Higham, M.P., presided.

There were present as representatives of the Theatrical Managers' Association Messrs. Tom B. Davis, H. W. Rowland, Herbert Randall, while Messrs. Arthur Gibbons and Eugene C. Stafford represented the Touring Managers' Association.

Upon a resolution in favour of the resumption of pre-war facilities for commercial travellers being proposed.

Mr. Tom B. Davis rose and said: I wish, sir, to move an amendment, but would first like to state my reason for doing so. I think, in presenting the case on behalf of a number of different classes and associations, one always finds some have stronger claims than others, and I do not wish to say for one moment that the claim of commercial travellers for special consideration is not a strong one. But I cannot for one moment consider that they, or indeed any class, have a stronger claim than the theatrical touring companies. Our business has long since been formally recognised as an essential business, and a weekly travelling is an absolutely essential part of it. The theatrical companies travel as much for the sake of the public as for themselves. But for these travelling companies the theatres and music halls of the provinces would be absolutely without entertainment. In addition to this, we do our travelling on Sundays, thereby using the accommodation and transport at the times when they are very little in demand, never cause any unexpected rush, in the railway companies know a lot in advance exactly how many passengers there will be and how much luggage.

I should also like to remind the meeting that the entertainment industry has been specially taxed since the war by the entertainment tax. I am not asking a preferential treatment, but, on the other hand, I cannot concede the right of other classes to be specially mentioned when we are included. I therefore ask, in this resolution to be amended by additional words "and theatrical touring companies." The Chairman said he thought the way of dealing with the matter was after the resolution by not mentioning particular class, but asking for a sumption of pre-war facilities for travelling public.

The resolution in the form suggested by the Chairman was then agreed to. The following resolution was also moved: That this meeting, representing travelling public of the United Kingdom, demands of the Government the resumption of the 50 per cent. increase in the cost of railway fares, which was established as a war measure under the Defence of the Realm Act, and asks all members of Parliament to support the Parliamentary Committee of the theatrical touring companies in their efforts in the House of Commons immediately on the subject of that body after the Whitsun recess help to carry this resolution into effect.

"THE SNARK'S" SUMMER ANNUAL.

The combination of the drawings of St. Wood ("The Snark") and the editorship of Mr. Harry Angold has resulted in many amusing and popular edition of the well-known "Snark's Annual."

In the current summer edition, hand, the humorous fare, both in and literary, is as good and liberal, and makes a volume full of racy ideas and quips and cranks well worth the price at which it is published. It probably no more entertaining volume to be found on the bookstalls with an certain guarantee of whiling away moments in continuous chuckling. Humour of Starr Wood can be as sure it is generally broad, as witness the hilarious parody of "Bubbles." The is published by Angold's, Ltd., 10 court, Fleet-street, London, E.C.4.

THE REALM OF MUSIC.

CONCERT ARTISTS' NOTES.

Victory Concert Season—Effect of Increased Expenses—Alexandra and Crystal Palaces—The Search for New Numbers.

Ideal Conditions.

For once the weather is kind to concert artists. The exceptionally fine and hot days are luring thousands to the sea in happy and generous mood, and from all fronts of the concert party theatres of war comes news of "determined" attacks all along the line—enemy convulsed in large numbers. Even if the fickle weather does change, the concert parties will be still glowing over the fine start of the "Victory" concert season.

Increasing Expenses.

Concert party proprietors will be thankful for the profitable commencement of the season, for many have cause to be anxious this year. Like everything else to-day, their expenses have increased enormously; costumes cost more than double, printing charges are terrific in comparison with pre-war days, artists must have much larger salaries to compensate for the falling monetary value of the sovereign, while the 50 per cent. increased railway fares even more a nightmare to the touring than the resident proprietor. It is not surprising that many late proprietors have this season accepted positions as managers, for, in view of the entertainment tax, proprietors can charge little more than previously to the public to compensate for these increases, and the position is safer as a manager than a proprietor.

The Alexandra Palace.

Uncertainly still seems to veil the immediate future of the Alexandra Palace. Now that the Huns are receiving their briefs to the "Federation," and there is a prospect of the magnificent Palace and grounds being used for more wholesome purposes, the inhabitants of the surrounding suburbs are hoping for a resumption of the popular day of Peace. Mr. E. Sloper, who recently retired from the secretariatship to the trustees, had made the Grove Concerts especially popular. The recent appointment of Mr. T. F. Bryen as a trustee is welcome news, more especially in view of

Mr. Sloper's retirement. He is a thorough business man, and as Vice-President of the National Sunday League, knows the right artists to provide. Artists and public alike are hopeful that the concerts will be renewed during the Victory season.

Crystal Palace.

Though the Crystal Palace is still in the hands of the Military, the well-known Palace organist and musical director, Mr. Walter W. Hedgecock, is still retained by the trustees. The grand organ is being reconstructed and repaired in readiness for the crowds that will doubtless visit the Palace during the Imperial War Museum, probably early next year, and Mr. Hedgecock is busy preparing the musical festivals. He is very enterprising, and we wonder he has not already organised similar concerts to those given in the Alexandra Palace Grove, but perhaps we may yet find he will.

New Numbers.

One of the worries of concert artists is to find new and successful numbers. Many entertainers write their own or buy original songs, but the vast majority are dependent upon the music publishing firms, some of which do not always appear to appreciate how beneficial it is to them to have their songs worked and popularised before the masses of cosmopolitan people—on the one hand, and the music publisher on the other. Whilst one publisher will pay royalties to artists, another will even expect them to pay for their music. The enterprising firms of the U.S.A. are much more alive, and will even go as far as to arrange for full band performances to assist orchestral conductors in interpretation. It must also be admitted that some firms here do not overlook the importance of correctly placing their wares before artists and the public. The Lawrence Wright Company, for instance, have their own famous Ensemble on the halls, while in their professional department is to be found that talented pianist and composer, Mr. Francis Adair, ever ready to play over and assist concert artists in their selection and interpretation of songs.

CONCERT PARTIES AT WORK.

JOY AT ILFRACOMBE.

With his smart and up-to-date concert party, "Joy," Mr. Mackenzie Lee is putting in a second week of excellent business at the Victoria Pavilion, Ilfracombe. In addition to good ballad singing by Miss Winifred Dalley, Miss Dorothy Wren, and Mr. Cecil Bode, the latter being a special favourite, the best of the comedy is introduced by Miss Doris Langdon, a charming soubrette, well partnered by Mr. Mackenzie Lee, and Mr. Dan Leno, junr., who rounds off his songs with wonderfully clever dancing. Miss Nina Lorenza contributes delightful mandolin solos, over and above her good work as accompanist to the company. A long list of burlesques, as well as humorous concerted items, give much appreciated piquancy to the "Joy" entertainments.

WESTCLIFF-ON-SEA PIERROTS.

Opening at Whitsuntide, at Shorefield Gardens, Westcliff, the Olympians, under the able direction of Mr. Wallis Arthur, speedily made good. The great feature of their entertainments is its refinement, which in no way detracts from its humour or makes it insipid, and the fact that many of the items are home-made, as it were, and evolved from the inner consciousness of the artists, and all the clever "business" emanates from the brains of this Pierrot combination. Wallis Arthur himself composed the opening Peace Anthem, "God Bless Our Empire," a rousing refrain, and the opening chorus, "Here We Are Again." Mr. Lambert Harvey has a tenor voice of excellent quality, and chooses his songs well. Mr. Leslie Wilson is a prime favourite with some capital comic songs, such as "When the Ladies Rule the Nation" and "The Death of Dora." Mr. Watts, who supplies an extra turn, is possessed of a fine baritone voice, and, besides singing the prologue to "Pagliacci," gives a very good ballad of "The Stoker" of H.M. ships. Mr. Clarkson Rose is quite a host in himself, and keeps the ball of fun rolling all the time; his "First I Went and Won the D.C.M." and his "Marriage Nightmare" are equally good in themselves and their rendition. Of the fair sex, Miss Olive Fox is very arch and coquettish and clever, and shows her versatility in "You Taught Me All those Wicked Things" and the delightful humorous quartette, "Liza's Proposals" (Clarkson Rose). Miss Violet Locke is an excellent pianist and accompanist, and Miss Winifred Gawthorne is well known as a sweet singer of sentimental songs. Dancing is also a forte of this Pierrot troupe, who give matinees specially arranged for children and the younger generation.

BUXTON'S PLEASURE RESORTS.

Francis and Day's Costume Concert Party are meeting with success at Buxton's Pleasure Grounds with a complete change of programme twice weekly and two performances daily at three and eight. The artists are: Miss Doreen Costello, Miss Rosalie Mable, Miss Dorothy Farrar, Mr. Bert Lee, Mr. Thomas Cregun, Mr. Harry Farrar, and Mr. Mack Jollyboy. Mr. Rex Lowe is the manager.

ENTERTAINERS AT DOUGLAS.

VILLA MARINA.—The Douglas Corporation Manager, Mr. Noah Moore.—With the departure of the Odd Fellows, who held possession of the Grand Hall for their conference during Whit Week, the season commenced on Monday in earnest. In the hall dancing, also Stephanie Anderson and assistant in the scene, "Music Dance Dances"; Carl Lynn, the king of animal mimics; Feldman's Songsters, under the direction of Mr. Harold Brown. This smart crowd include Miss Maud Hughes, Miss Ethel Wilford, Miss Edna Romani, Mr. Laurie Haberton, Mr. Eddie Walker, and Mr. Charles Lucas, accompanist. Mr. Fred Winterbottom's Municipal Orchestra. Sunday concerts, afternoon and evening.

THE GAIETY THEATRE.

Mr. Harry Leslie's Seven Comedy Cadets enter on their second week. The company consist of Miss Ella Lewis Horne, Miss Lilian Rose, Miss Bobbie Burcott, Mr. Allan Williams, Mr. Arthur Forbes, Mr. Jay Kay, and Mr. Victor Hooking at the Piano.

THE MALCOLM SCOTT TOPICS.

On Whit Monday afternoon, the above excellent combination gave the first of a week's series of entertainments at the usual musical tea held daily in the large hall of the Buxton Gardens Co., Ltd., under the direction of Mr. Lester Reekie, and had a great welcome. Mr. D. "art scored with "The Time of My Life," which was to the liking of all; Miss Kitty Golding was encased in "My Ship," sung in a pleasing contralto voice. Quite a storm of hilarity was the outcome of Mr. Lester Reekie's "Dissertation on Love," and when the laughter had somewhat subsided Miss Betty Hare joined in with a smart song and dance entitled "Little Mr. Baggy-Breeches"; encased, "One Never Knows." The item, "Operatic Skits," by the company, was voted excellent; as was the piano solo by Mr. R. Hawdon. Miss Molly Stoll was successful with her "Percy" subject, and as an extra resorted to mimicry, "A very naughty child," which was exceedingly clever. "Glorious Devon" was a very fine performance in the song line, and was recalled. Mr. Reekie indulged in "A Chorus Song" which provoked much laughter, and he gave an extra. Miss Effie Weston, too, was successful in a couple of songs, "My Garden" being prettily and expressively rendered.

THE BROWNIES AT NORWICH.

Mr. Charles Heslop had a reception on his re-appearance at the Spring Gardens Pavilion at Norwich. Apart from the fact that he and the Brownies, who have always been great favourites with Norwich audiences, had been absent nearly four years, Norwich is Mr. Heslop's metal city, and he was educated at the Grammar School there. Mr. Heslop was gassed in France, but is now fully recovered, and is quite his old entertaining self. His brother Brownies include Reginald Palmer (late of Moonshine), Noel Leyland (baritone), Claud Russell (pianist), Madie Field, Dodo Stade, and Margarita Kynaston.

THE TONICS AT BLACKPOOL.

After being away from Victoria Pier during the past two years, engaged in the Winter Gardens ballets, Fred Walmesley returned to his old love this Whitsuntide, and from now onwards will add to the gaiety of Blackpool (with his famous Pierrot troupe of "The Tonics"). A host in himself, Mr. Walmesley has secured the co-operation of several well-known and highly esteemed entertainers, including Nellie Gailfaut, Agnes Rayson, Charles Hawthorne, Leslie Barker, Terry Wilson, and Bert de Cruz. Duet and concerted pieces form the bulk of the programme, and while the individual turn is employed on several occasions, there is evidence that Mr. Walmesley believes in his comrades entering into the exploitation of as many numbers as possible, thus introducing a larger sense of movement and animation than results from the solo or personal effort. This is all to the advantage of the entertainment as a whole, and enhances Mr. Walmesley's reputation as a manager. On his abilities as a Lancashire humorist there is no need to dilate. He has a large and enthusiastic following in Blackpool.

DOTS AND DASHES AT LITTLEHAMPTON.

The Dots and Dashes Concert Party are occupying the boards here for a further week. The company is an excellent one, and their concerted numbers are smart and original. To-night (Wednesday) is set apart for the benefit of J. Vincent Arden and Little Sarny, who are very popular.

SONGS AND SINGERS.

Lawrence Wright Music Co. Numbers.

Horatio Nicholls' master ballad, "The Kingdom Within Your Eyes," is easily proving to be one of the outstanding ballad hits at Blackpool and all the other seaside resorts. It is closely followed by "Back from the Land of Yesterday," "Egypt, I Am Calling You," "For You a Rose, for Me a Memory." Two different types of songs only just issued have also immediately taken the public fancy. These are "Sing Me a Song of the Morning," an exquisite encore number, and "That Old-fashioned Mother of Mine," which Talbot O'Parrell has already made a great success. There is a big demand from all quarters for comedy songs, and chief amongst those which have found public favour are George Bass's "Ca-Baggs, Ca-Beans, and Car-Rols" and "Oh! that Lancashire Jazz Band."

Mr. Frank Foster, the well-known New Zealand tenor, is back in town this week at the Metropolitan, where he is scoring a very big success with "The Kingdom Within Your Eyes" and "Devon Boys." Mme. Alice Lakin, the celebrated contralto, is scoring at the Holborn with "For You a Rose, for Me a Memory" and the over-popular "The End of a Journey."

Miss Helen Moray, on her reappearance in London, has chosen "The Kingdom Within Your Eyes," which is one of the biggest winners she has ever had of this type of song.

B. Feldman and Co. Numbers.

Hal Evangeline, the Anglo-Irish boy, is making a big hit with "You're Just a Great Big Cuddly Kid."

Bonaudo and Francis scored at the Metropolitan last week. Their star number was "Cuddly Kid" also.

Beth Tate features "So He Followed Me," and makes the song go "all the way." Terry's Juveniles are happy in "Some Sunday Morning," a number they work with much charm.

Maggie Benson scores with the old favourite, "Sweet Adeline."

Gordon's Entertainers are making merry at Sberingham, Norfolk. They have a good repertoire of songs, which they handle effectively. Among their chief hits are "At the Jazz Town Novelty Ball" and "Mickey."

Anna Hanna has been making new friends and charming old admirers with a characteristic rendering of "How Yer Gonna Keep 'Em Down on the Farm?"

Dora Dane, at Woolwich Hippodrome this week, is singing "You've Got to be Good." Liane D'Eve, featuring "At the Jazz Town Novelty Ball," is making a distinctive hit with it, working her usual originalities into her act, and gaining much applause thereby.

Herman Darewski Company Numbers.

Very big song hits in Ernest C. Rolfe's revue, "Laughing Eyes," written by Lauri Wyllie and Ernest C. Rolfe, lyrics by John P. Harrington, dances by J. W. Jackson, and music by Herman Darewski, which was successfully produced at the Strand Theatre on Tuesday night, were Jennie Benson's

"A Lonely Soul," Bileen Molyneux's "Johnny's in Town," and Nancy Gibbs "Calico." The three great comedy duets, sung by Jennie Benson and Fred. Leslie, "I Said 'Ow Are You?'" "I'm Going to Get You," and "The Jazz Tinker's Wedding," were all heartily applauded.

An important acquisition by the Darewski firm is that wonderful oriental fox trot, "Indianola," which is already a permanent feature in ball-rooms throughout the kingdom. Full and small orchestral, also military band parts are now ready.

H.M.'s Band, (which, at Darford, last Saturday, achieved such a success with "Everything is Peaches Down in Georgia," "K-K-Katy," "I Don't Want to Get Well," "Hong-Kong," and other Darewski numbers, has been engaged by Medley Barrett to play at the fête arranged to take place at Lord Lansdowne's house in town on the 26th inst., when they will make special features of these and other big numbers of the firm.

STUDENTS' RECITAL.

AT THE ORGAN.

Royal College of Music students of the organ joined recently in giving a recital in the Prince Consort-road Hall. Naturally, among some half-dozen or so of performers varying degrees of proficiency were to be noted, but in every case there was sufficient command over the resources of the instrument to make the interpretations interesting, and, in fact, the general level of attainment was high. It is almost invidious to particularise, but a word must be given to the spirited performance of the solo part in Handel's G minor concerto for organ and orchestra by Mr. Hugh Ross, to Miss Marjorie Barton's tasteful playing of Mendelssohn's Prelude and Fugue in D minor, and to the very artistic reading by Mr. Bernhard Ord of Liszt's Prelude and Fugue on the name Bach; but this is not to say that the other players—Messrs. Ching, Timberley, Nott, and Edmunds—were not equally worthy of detailed mention.

It was a good idea to vary the organ pieces with songs and violinello solos. The singer, Miss U. Janet Gale, a mezzo-soprano with a voice both sweet and strong, was heard in some of W. Y. Hurlstone's little-known songs; the cellist, Miss Gene A. Milne, who produces quite a beautiful tone, played Friskin's Impromptu in fluent and polished style.

A MUNICIPAL CONDUCTOR.

The committee of the Bournemouth Corporation which has been considering the question of the remuneration of the Director of Music recommends that the salary be increased to £1,100 per annum.

CAMP CONCERTS.

Mr. Kilburn-Meron, the popular Australian tenor, has just returned to town, after a successful tour of the Australian Camps Wylie and Ernest C. Rolfe, lyrics by John P. Harrington, dances by J. W. Jackson, and music by Herman Darewski, which was successfully produced at the Strand Theatre on Tuesday night, were Jennie Benson's Joe Hastings tells us that the circus revue will commence its tour of theatres from November next. Hart and O'Brien.

Hart and O'Brien, Canada's representatives, at present starring at Thornton's, return to town for one week (June 30, Poplar), and afterwards commence the Moss Tour at Swansea.

"What a Wife!"
Miss Florence Hamilton writes:—"I note that Steele and Rose contemplate producing a comedy sketch with the above title. A comedy sketch under this title, by W. V. Garrod, was produced by me on Dec. 30, 1918, at the Theatre Royal, Woolwich, and recorded in my issue Jan. 1, 1919."

Denham and Watt.
Teddy Denham, the well-known revue comedian, has left the cast of "Dilly Dally," and is joining Jack Watt, late Carlisle and Watt. The new combination opens at the Metropolitan next week, and will be known as Denham and Watt.

The Great Raymond.
Maurice F. Raymond (The Great Raymond) wishes us to deny the rumour that he has been married. There have been two marriages in his company, but Mr. Raymond himself is still single. Miss Millie, one of Mr. Raymond's charming assistants, who has been with him for eight years, was married by special licence last Sunday to Robert W. Mason, of New-

Roxy La Rocca Sails for America.
Roxy La Rocca, who, as we announced in our last issue, recently sustained a severe bereavement by the death of his wife, sailed for America on Monday, and will be away until November next, when he will return to resume his engagements. He desires to thank everyone for their kind sympathy.

A New Entertainer.
At the South London last week, Clay Moore, recently demobilised, made his first appearance. Dressed in uniform, he opened with a number, "Good-bye Khaki Days," which he wrote and composed whilst in hospital. During the second chorus he disappears behind a screen, and, making a quick change, comes on in evening dress, telling a few yarns concerning his Army experiences. Clay finishes with a song entitled "Adam and Eve," which is followed by a clever dance. Although early in the programme, he did very well.

May Taylor.
At the Bedford last week May Taylor, a young Scottish comedienne, did very well. She first sang a tuneful number, "When the Joy Bells Ring in Tobermory," and her second, "Spent Your Holidays in Sky," was well rendered. May concluded with a neat dance.

The Musical Navvies.
Another turn which was very popular at the Bedford was the Musical Navvies, presented by Mrs. Leo Cud. They began with a concerted selection, and afterwards gave a fine rendering of "Asleep in the Deep," which was loudly applauded. Their rag-time selections were also much enjoyed. The items were interspersed with good comedy business.

Hayman and Beyer.
We hear that the new agency, Hayman and Beyer, have made arrangements with Harry Kenyon, the well-known agent in the Midlands, to act as their provincial representative.

Mr. Ben J. Fuller's Trip.
Mr. Gordon P. Firman, of the London office of the Fuller's Circuit of Australia and New Zealand, tells us that he has received a cable from Mr. Ben J. Fuller, the managing director of the Fuller's Australian Circuit to the effect that he was leaving Australia for the States on June 12, and should arrive in this country later on in the summer. It is anticipated that Mr. Fuller and family will also accompany Mr. Fuller on the trip. It is ten years since Mr. and Mrs. Fuller last visited England.

The Wybourne Quintette.
A new musical act styled the Wybourne Quintette is now in rehearsal, and will shortly make its debut on the London stage. This act, which is under the direction of Mr. Jack Mark Low, is composed entirely of ex-members of H.M. Forces who have served overseas, and each artist is a vocalist or instrumentalist of considerable talent and experience. The quintette promises to be highly successful, and is already extensively booked.

Dan Barker.
Daniel Barker, late stage manager of the Hippo, Birmingham, is now resident stage manager at the Empire, West Bromwich, and has, we hear, made several improvements to the stage and dressing-rooms. It is Dan's endeavour to make the artists' stay as comfortable as possible, and Mr. Kennedy, the proprietor of the hall, is sparing no expense in enabling him to do so. Dan, who has just designed and painted an original and effective proscenium opening and scene to match, which he claims is the only one of its kind in existence, was a member of Henry Crocker's staff at the London Coliseum for nearly five years, and has controlled the behind-the-scenes staffs of the Aldershot Hippo, Royal Windsor, and Hippo, Devonport.

Elida Morris's Bereavement.
We regret to hear that Elida Morris, the American comedienne, had a cable recently from home saying that her father had died suddenly. The news came as a great shock to Miss Morris, as when she last saw him in November he was in the best of health. Miss Morris, who is appearing this week at the Holborn Empire, returns to the other side to fulfil engagements, and visits us again early next year.

Mareski's Lucky Escape.
The popular violinist, Mareski, who was playing at the Hippodrome, Brighton, last week, had a narrow escape whilst on motor. In avoiding a nurse with a perambulator, he ran into a motor bus, and although the car was badly damaged, Mareski and his friend escaped without any injury.

Hart and O'Brien.
Hart and O'Brien, Canada's representatives, at present starring at Thornton's, return to town for one week (June 30, Poplar), and afterwards commence the Moss Tour at Swansea.

"What a Wife!"
Miss Florence Hamilton writes:—"I note that Steele and Rose contemplate producing a comedy sketch with the above title. A comedy sketch under this title, by W. V. Garrod, was produced by me on Dec. 30, 1918, at the Theatre Royal, Woolwich, and recorded in my issue Jan. 1, 1919."

Denham and Watt.
Teddy Denham, the well-known revue comedian, has left the cast of "Dilly Dally," and is joining Jack Watt, late Carlisle and Watt. The new combination opens at the Metropolitan next week, and will be known as Denham and Watt.

The Great Raymond.
Maurice F. Raymond (The Great Raymond) wishes us to deny the rumour that he has been married. There have been two marriages in his company, but Mr. Raymond himself is still single. Miss Millie, one of Mr. Raymond's charming assistants, who has been with him for eight years, was married by special licence last Sunday to Robert W. Mason, of New-

New Variety Theatre for Clydebank.
Plans have been passed by the Dean of Guild for the erection of a new variety theatre at Clydebank, Glasgow, at an estimated cost of £35,000. A site has been obtained at Kilbowie-road, and operations are to be commenced immediately. The building, which it is hoped will be ready in December this year, will have seating accommodation for 1,600. A private company has been formed, the two principal directors being Mr. Geo. Ewing Scott, theatrical proprietor, Glasgow, and Mr. John Cummings, theatrical proprietor and agent, of Glasgow and Kilmahock.

New Manager at Aylesbury.
Mr. Harry Chester, the new manager at the Market Theatre, Aylesbury, will be remembered in the past as connected prominently with the Albany Ward Circuit. The theatre has recently been re-decorated and the stage arrangements improved, and there are some excellent bookings for the near future.

May and Francis.
Those clever entertainers, May and Francis, who are presenting their original show on the L.T.V. Tour, and were last week at Crofton, are now open to consider offers for the Continent for the middle of next year, up to which time they are fully booked in this country.

Duncan and Godfrey.
After resting for the past four weeks owing to Miss Minnie Duncan having to undergo a slight operation, that popular couple, Duncan and Godfrey, are working again this week at the Holborn, where their show is being heartily received. In four weeks' time they start rehearsals for Lew Lake's production, "Jolly Jack Tar," which opens at Islington on August Bank Holiday.

Frank Le Dent.
At the London Coliseum this week that clever comedy juggler, Frank Le Dent, is making his reappearance in this country after three years' absence in America, having just concluded an engagement at the N.Y. Hippodrome. A special feature of this act is the "Change-colour Torch," a distinct novelty. Mr. Le Dent has received a tempting offer to appear for a season at the Folies Bergeres, Paris.

T. M. Sylvester's No. 2 Show.
At Ilford, on Monday next, that well-known showman, Mr. T. M. Sylvester, will introduce his No. 2 Show, which includes many popular features, such as Rossi's famous elephants, &c. This show will be under the personal supervision of Mr. Sylvester.

Johnson Clark.
The popular ventriloquist, Johnson Clark, whose reception at the Palladium this week is most enthusiastic, leaves town on Monday next for seven weeks. He will be at the Palace, Blackpool, for two separate weeks, which is sure proof of his popularity in the North. Mr. Clark resumes the L.T.V. Tour on Aug. 18.

The Six Greenlees have just completed a most successful tour in Ireland, their comedy act being very popular in every town they visited.

MY MUSIC HALL TOUR.

DO YOU WANT TO BE A FILM STAR?—A LITTLE DISSERTATION ABOUT COUPLES—SENTIMENTAL AUDIENCES AT THE METROPOLITAN AND KILBURN EMPIRE.

Some are born great, others achieve greatness, and others have greatness thrust upon them.

At the Metropolitan.
It is not quite correct to place in the latter category the thirty odd members of the audience who helped to produce a film on the stage of the Metropolitan, for they had volunteered willingly enough in response to the appeal from Mr. Cowley. It was not a case of conscription. Even the final request for "a man with whiskers" produced a bashful whiskered volunteer.

But, once these sporting members of the audience were on the stage, they certainly had greatness thrust upon them, for they were selected to play all the parts, from hero and heroine downwards, in a thrilling drama of real life, entitled "The Guilty Wife."

To criticise my fellow audience does not come easily to me. I feel too sympathetic, and am sure that my criticism would err on the side of generosity. I may say without bias, however, that the young man who took the part of the outraged husband and entered very admirably into the spirit of the thing, and showed real glimpses of histrionic ability. And the rest I congratulate on their gameness and the tremendous hilarity they caused. In particular, the unfortunate villain, with the heavy black moustache that would keep falling off.

But chief praise is due to Harry Burns, who presented the feature, Welch Conrad, Mr. Cowley, the producer, and Lient. Bovell, the "camera man." The idea is an excellent one, and you should make a special effort to see—and perhaps take part in—"Making Movies" when it comes to your district. It is probably the most entertaining attraction on the halls at the moment.

No one would have felt like complaining if the management had "gone slow" on the rest of the programme, but this was not the case. We were given many other good things. Rastus and Banks were very amusing in their jazziing sketch, and Bonaudo and Francis also drew a lot of laughter, which they deserved. Francis gave us a nasty moment when he sat on a chair four tables high, and tipped over backwards. But he came down all right, after the chair and he had turned a corner, and he was in the air. One shudders to think what would have happened had there been only three tables!

A diversion. I have said that this tumbling act was performed by Francis, because the name is spelt with an "i," which suggests the male gender. Would it not be possible, however, for music-hall couples to give some clearer indication of which is which. For instance, "Bonaudo Belancourt.

Belancourt, the French-Cuban wonder, has introduced a refined and original style of comedy into his act which is proving a great success around the Gulliver Circuit. At the Empire, Kilburn, where he is appearing this week, the act is meeting with a hearty reception and gaining many laughs.

Harry Lynn's Grave.
Mr. Walter Smith writes, stating that on paying a visit to Abney Park Cemetery he had great difficulty in finding the grave of Mr. Harry Lynn, and he deplores the fact that it has no head-stone or other distinguishing mark.

Gilday and Fox.
Last week Gilday and Fox, those popular comedy purveyors, returned to town, and at New Cross and Hammersmith met with the heartiest of receptions. Their present act has been most successful, and we are told that their next, "The Hebrew M.P.s," promises to be equally popular.

Clive Vale Cinema, Hastings.
Mr. Jimmy Woods, the popular comedian and proprietor of the revue, "Blighy," has recently purchased the Clive Vale Cinema, Hastings, which he is running with pictures and variety turns to full houses. For Whit week Mr. Fred O'Neill and Miss Moya De Valois and company in the sketch, "The Snake and the Mormon," provided the variety. This is an excellent and well-dressed act, introducing real snakes which were skillfully handled by Miss De Valois, who previously to introducing the above sketch in conjunction with Mr. O'Neill was the snake charmer with Mr. George Dance's "Kismet" company.

Wakefield Empire.
The Wakefield Empire has recently changed hands. Messrs. Sherwood and Co., who erected the building, having sold it to Mr. David Bliss, who is well known in variety circles. It is now under the direction of the Wakefield (Empire), Ltd., whose registered offices are at Bradford. Mr. H. Norcliff is the resident manager.

Leslie Deane.
Owing to the postponement of the revue, "Right There," Leslie Deane is unexpectedly disengaged for revue, &c. His address is 66, Acre-lane, Brixton, S.W.

For Disabled Serbian Soldiers.
H.M. Princess Marie Louise has signified her intention of being present at a matinee which Mr. Frank Allen, managing-director of Moss Empires, is arranging at Finsbury Park Empire on Thursday, June 26, in aid of the Hon. Evelyn Haverfield's Fund for Disabled Serbian Soldiers, in connection with "Slava Week."

The Terriers.
At the meeting on Sunday last Capt. De Villiers officiated as W.T. George Wisdom as V.T. Will Cody G.C. Walter Norman W.I. Jack Olrac W.D. Jack Anderson Y.B. and Fred Hughes assistant secretary. Addresses of the following Terriers are required: Eric Winkill, Walter Barret, Leo Sterling, Mike Johnson, Neville Stone, Cecil Rutland, Lauri Howard, Dan Clark, and Samarooff.

In consequence of the Terriers' Concert at Brinsworth, on Sunday, the Lodge will be closed.

J. Rowland Sales, of the London Booking Office, tells us that Mr. George Mortimer, who up to the present has been London representative of this firm, has been released from his agreement by Mr. Sales to take up another advantageous position.

A Remarkable Man.
The Chairman, in submitting the toast of "Our Guests," said: Sir Oswald Stoll stands out as a man who has made his mark upon our time, in every sense of the phrase. He has made our time happier than he found it, and in making his mark he has proved himself a remarkable man. You will recollect Dr. Johnson said you could not stand under an umbrella for five minutes with Burke without knowing he was a remarkable man. Sir Oswald is not Burke, but I am certain you cannot stand for five minutes with him in the box-office without knowing that he, too, is a remarkable man.

The Modern Variety Theatre.
Since Sir Oswald inaugurated the system of two houses a night at Cardiff he has never looked back. In 1900 he joined the great Moss combine, and the Hippodrome was opened, and then the Coliseum. He now manages and controls some twenty of the biggest halls in the world. What he has done has been to improve the old music hall out of all recognition. In the great centres of industrial population the variety house counts for even more than it does here in the life and leisure of the people. I have seen it written somewhere that we ought to nationalise our luxuries. That is just what Sir Oswald has done by bringing the luxuries of sumptuous entertainment and magnificent spectacle within the reach of all classes alike in every part of the country.

At the Kilburn Empire.
At the Kilburn Empire, one of the biggest hits was made by another sentimental song figuring in the clever turn of Wyn Ivry. It dealt with a little girl who wanted to take a train to Heaven for the week-end to see her father. But, happily, she would have missed him, because he returned home after having been reported "missing."

Comedians were in good form at Kilburn. Tom Dean's aviation song always goes well, and Ernie Mayne never fails to send the house into roars. "He's a scream, isn't he?" commented a voice behind me. That expresses him. And he seems to grow fatter and fatter every time I see him. As G. K. Chesterton said of himself a little while ago, Ernie could get up and give his seat to three ladies quite easily.

Then we had Dale and O'Malley, and at their very best. And we also had Colley and Scott, one of whose jokes bore a topical savour by accident. "Nature provides for everything." "I wish it would provide for thirst." It was a parching night, and the grass has long suffered from thirst, but I don't really imagine the speaker was thinking of grass! Elida Morris was another popular turn.

Finally, E. D. Nicholls and Co. presented their sketch, "Saving His Bacon," in which a Jew, with a foreign accent, turns out to be very British, and a man with a British accent maintains the balance by turning out to be very foreign. The sketch is by Arthur Rose, and is notable for the good performance of Nicholls as Nathan Cohen, the Jew. It is an excellent character study, and the better side of Jews is very happily shown. The better side of "Smith," an Alien Enemy, was not shown—but then it was not intended to be!

PRESENTATION TO SIR OSWALD STOLL

COMPLIMENTARY DINNER AT THE SAVOY.

The complimentary dinner given to Sir Oswald Stoll at the Savoy Hotel on Saturday evening in recognition of the honour of knighthood conferred upon him by the King was attended by a company which was of a remarkably representative character. Viscount Burnham, chairman of the committee who organised the function, presided, and those present included the Earl of Dunmore, the Earl of March, Viscount Sandhurst (Lord Chamberlain), Lord Abercromby, Lord Asquith, Baron F. D'Er-langer, Brig-General Sir Douglas Dawson, Sir Gordon Hewart, K.C., M.P. (Attorney-General), Lord Lurgan, Sir Henry Dalziel, Sir Emley Carr, Sir George Norris, M.P., Sir H. Kingsley Wood, Sir William Beardsmore, Mr. Arthur Boucher, Mr. Charles Coburn, Mr. Robert Courtenay, Mr. W. L. Courtney, Sir John Courtis, Mr. Arthur Croxson, Mr. George Dance, Sir Walter De Frece, Lieut.-Colonel Sir George Elliott, Mr. George Grossmith, Mr. Fred Grundy, Mr. Charles Gulliver, Mr. Mark Hambourg, Mr. C. P. Higham, M.P., Sir Edward Hulton, Mr. C. Jesson, M.P., Mr. Henry Arthur Jones, Sir Alex-ander C. Mackenzie, Captain J. A. E. Malone, Mr. C. W. Bowerman, M.P., Mr. Bruce Green, Mr. Frank Matcham, Mr. Arthur Shirley, Mr. Douglas Stuart, Mr. J. McVeagh, M.P., Mr. Gus McNaughton, Mr. P. Mitrovitch, Mr. A. Moreland, Sir H. E. Morgan, Mr. George Mozart, Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M.P., Sir Robert Peacock, Mr. Arthur Roberts, Mr. George Robey, Mr. Eugene Sandow, Mr. Harry Tate, Mr. Frank Allen, Mr. Robert Donald, Mr. Malcolm Watson, Sir Ernest Wild, K.C., Mr. Ben Davies, Mr. Ben Greet, Mr. Fred Russell, Mr. Walter Battle, Alderman H. E. Davies, Dr. Broad, Mr. H. J. Thomas, Sir James McCraith, Mr. Davis-Williams, and Mr. W. S. Gordon Michie.

Sir Oswald Stoll.
Sir Oswald Stoll, having acknowledged the great honour which had been done him that evening, said:
In connection with the honour conferred upon me by His Majesty the King, the War Seal Foundation has been mentioned. That scheme is a phase of the housing question. It furnishes the kind of housing a disabled man most needs when he leaves the hospital. It foresees his daily disabilities, and gathers his family around him. It makes his pension mean for him happiness or at least contentment in a real home, with necessary treatment at his own door instead, perhaps, of neglect in a slum or misery in an institution.

The presence of Viscount Sandhurst and Brigadier-General Sir Douglas Dawson, as well as the gracious references to myself which Viscount Sandhurst has made, lead me to hope that I may regard Knighthood as conferred upon me at least partly through my connection with the entertainment world. After a reference to Shakespeare's emotional teaching which he said, I swayed us early in the war, Sir Oswald continued:

It is only crude emotionalism which can agitate in good faith for a levy on capital for paying one's debts quickly out of other people's pockets. When taxation differs what it should protect it makes government a blight instead of a blessing. No nation swayed by right emotions would listen to the proposal, however well put intellectually. The sound and the substance of the sentences would jar their instincts, and those instincts would be economically sound. All this emphasises the importance of the stage and the screen, or motion pictures, in our national life. They are the schools not of the intellect, but of the practical, as distinct from the purely religious, emotions. They show in action the consequences of right and wrong emotions. The Shakespeares of the stage, the Griffiths and the Chaplins of the screen, are the educators of our emotions.

Proposed University and Theatre.
The powers that be must provide machinery for furnishing new standards. They must not only make the stage and the screen honoured professions, but must expend upon the development of right emotions a few of the millions which in education they expend upon the development of right minds. They must not spend the money in competing against private enterprises, and so killing another industry, but in fostering the growth of standards for private enterprise. This can be done by the creation and endowment of a university of all the arts and crafts contributory to the stage and screen, associated with a single national festival theatre commemorating Shakespeare. If ever we had a sympathetic Lord Chamberlain strongly and sympathetically supported, we have one now. If ever we had a sympathetic Commissioner of works, I believe that time is now. With the support of the Education Minister, who appears to have some understanding of the theatre, I feel sure they could prevail upon the Treasury to find the funds.

In conclusion, may I say that this occasion has brought me infinite gratification, and I thank from my heart all those who have identified themselves with it?
The health of the chairman, proposed by Sir Gordon Hewart, K.C., M.P., concluded the toast list.

The musical programme was admirably carried out by Mme. Alfre Baron, Mr. Ben Davies, and Mr. Walter C. Kelly. During the dinner selections were played by members of the Coliseum orchestra.

At the invitation of the chairman, the Lord Chamberlain addressed the gathering. He said: I am sometimes accused of being too puritanical, and sometimes too much the other way, but, acting on the best advice I can get, and it is good advice, I endeavour to sail on an even keel and keep within my duties as defined by statute. We are here to-day to honour one upon whom the King has graciously conferred a distinguished honour, and I know of none which is better bestowed than that upon our friend, Sir Oswald Stoll. I am frequently assailed by my well-wishers—these are the people from whom you hear the truth—and asked why I do not raise the whole tone of our performances, go in for

THE COLISEUM.

Again contributors to the current week's terrific excellence are Miss Margaret Cooper and her famous piano; Miss Clarice Mayne and "That," who are including a particularly good new number, "My Bill"; Stanley Wright and company in the cheer "The Three Pips and a Pelican"; and that exquisite prima ballerina from Copenhagen, Fanny Hasselquist, whose interpretations of such as "Le Cygne," "Antre's Tans," and a Dvorak Slavonic rondo, each in a costume strikingly designed by Kage, are truly wonderful.

The newcomers are Nellie and Sara Kouns, the "mirror" soprano, two charming Americans who blend their fine voices most attractively in such tuneful things as "Humoresque" (Dvorak), "So Saran Soan" (Arditi), and an Elocut Swiss Echo Song; Frank le Dent, a humorous juggler, most original and of no mean ability; and the Doves, whose ring and rope feats, done in the coolest and very newest fashion, are truly amazing. Moore's Jazz Four also appear in their "Fragments"; and so it is understood, do Jerome and Carson, Vandervillians. But these latter were not on the programme on Monday afternoon.

Finally, a word for that marvellous "battery" gentleman in the orchestra, whose work in the course of the intermission gets an ovation all to itself.

THE PALLADIUM.

Such a thing as a "slump" in the attendance at Mr. Charles Gulliver's popular Palladium, be the thermometer ever so high, is a thing unheard of. And no wonder. For the programme presented is always of the highest standard, and this week's is no exception. Miss Marie Lloyd is continuing her success with "I Can't Forget the Days When I Was Young" and other cleverly rendered songs, and is given the heartiest of receptions. Little Tich is here, too, at his very best. G. H. Y. at his beautiful own songs, which he sings in his own fascinating style, is always a popular turn. He is presenting a new number that a short while ago he was singing with a field concert party in Valparaiso, returning British prisoners. He has a cheery partner in the person of a late companion from the R.A.F., who accompanies him with a violin obligato.

Lorna and Toots Pounds are seen in their clever impersonations and dainty dancing act. All their impersonations are good, but their impersonation of the Asches in "Chu Chin Chow" is particularly brilliant. Johnson Clark, the ventriloquist, with his vocal "Kedge," delighted the house with their sparkling repartee, and the introduction of a "land girl" lends a topical touch to this ever-amusing turn. The famous troupe of Spanish acrobats, the Jovers, have discovered some extraordinarily clever tricks on the horizontal, and present an exhibition which combines originality, skill, and daring. Max Darewski again proves his versatility as a pianist, rendering a movement from a Beethoven Concerto and an energetic Ragtime Fantasia with equal brilliance and precision. Jack Pleasant's that personification of modesty, Percy Honri and his musical concertina, Marckley, banjoist; and the Spewell Bros. and Mack go to make up the delightful programme.

ISLINGTON EMPIRE.

Raymond, the Mystery Man, who occupies half of the programme here this week, is very justly called "the great." It is a great performance by a great conjurer, and, as an exhibition of magic, assuredly one of the most extraordinary things in the world. Illusion follows marvellous illusion in swift succession. Pretty girls are sealed in bags, packed into locked trunks, and in a second Raymond himself reappears in their stead. Invisible pigeons materialise in the air; and boy scouts arrive from nowhere. One of the most magical of the illusions is the Chinese prayer basket, which is probably unique in the history of conjuring.

Raymond's second half is entitled "A Trip to Spookville," and is something of an exposé of spiritualism. The conjurer is tied and roped to a chair, and in a second releases tambourines, bells, and other instruments beloved of mediums from under an awning. The whole performance leaves the audience dazed, but not too dazed to give Raymond one of the heartiest receptions we have heard for many a day.

Morny Cash was also loudly applauded. His two songs, "When Are They Going to Demobilise the Beer?" and "That's Mine on Saturday," are neatly written numbers that suit his own inimitable style to a nicety. Anna Dorothy, the American comedienne with a dash, is proving herself an excellent impersonator by her rendering of "Good-bye" as it might be sung by a Frenchman, a London "Johnny," Charlie Chaplin, and an American "doughboy." They were all cleverly observed pieces of acting. That "chic" artist, Daisy Stratton, in two very attractive costumes, sang and danced her Irish way into the hearts of the audience; and Gladys Wyse, a juvenile comedienne, followed a very embarrassing appeal in song to a young man in the stalls to take her to the pictures by an attractive foxtrotting of "Tipperary Mary." Mr. Albert Wyndham and company appearing in the well-acted and novel costume sketch "Nell Gwynne," complete the bill. Mr. Franklin, lately assistant manager at Kilburn, is now in charge here, commencing his duties on Monday night.

CHISWICK EMPIRE.

An attractive bill is the rule here, hence the splendid array of talent in this week's bill is a matter of course, and, it may be added, a matter for congratulation. Bruce Green is an inimitable "dame," with quips and cracks and much spontaneous humour; his various renditions of Tosti's "Good-bye" prove highly diverting.

Miss Olga Sydney, that clever young mimic, is very popular, and her impersonations are characterised by originality of treatment and much artistic discrimination. A distinctly novel "turn" is the Virginian judge, so admirably impersonated by Walter Kelly—a comedian of the best school, and whose contribution on Monday created roars of merriment. Delf-handed, alert, and skilful, Oswald Bemand brings ripe experience to bear, and gives a good "show," to say nothing of his wonderful pigeons. Dolly Mawse and Harry Enger work well together, and score a great success. Their dancing is good. The Twelve Manchester Mites, though quite new, are wonderful exponents in the art of Tosti-chore. A special word is due for their pretty ball-acting. McDonald Watson's brilliant company, the Scottish Players, are seen in "The Prize Winner," Mr. McDonald being excellent as John Craig, Mr. Joseph Barker good as bibulous Old Pattison, and Miss Nell Barker as a winsome Maggie. Cornelia and Eddie as Toss "Em and Miss "Em prove a most diverting pair.

SHEPHERD'S BUSH EMPIRE.

Mr. Arthur Woodhead has a bright and well-varied programme this week, and the rise of the curtain at the second house on Monday found, as usual, every seat in the theatre occupied. Miss Nellie Wallace, that comic genius, heads the bill, and with three typical numbers keeps the house shrieking with laughter. "Three Cheers for the Red, White, and Blue" ("I've Been Jilted") and the "Pantomime Boy" number are both very funny. Miss Flora Cromer, too, is another lady artist, who proves very popular. She leads off with her now well-known coster girl song, and follows it with an amusing study of a schoolgirl whose father is just home from France. Well contrasted with these items is her impersonations, in a delightful black gown, of Miss Bihel Levey singing "Me and My Gal."

Ninon Grey is a comedian who finds genuine humour in the sublimely ridiculous. His songs are so well written and individual, and suit his particular methods so well, that we should not be surprised to learn that he is his own author. His "Some Lad" and "Some Wedding" numbers, and his "Street Fiddler" song are both comic items of real merit. Suther performs a one-man musical revue. It is a combination of the quick-change business and the playing of many different musical instruments. Suther appears as a Belgian, a Swiss, an Italian, and so on, attired either in uniform or national dress, and plays an air on an instrument appropriate to the country he represents. This novel turn aroused much enthusiasm. Grey and Scott are a couple of attractive girls who present a musical mélange. They sing and play the piano, both being apparently expert at either; they do it in a fresh and lively manner that is very entertaining. Touches of comedy, too, are by no means absent from their act, and they were called again and again. Harry Ford is singing a couple of real Harry Ford songs in "That Was Me" and "A Cushty Job," and is going as well as ever. The Decars and "Tomato" is a trained donkey act that is thoroughly amusing; the Three Ernests contribute their well-known and brilliant comedy gymnastics; and Holson and Bart have no difficulty in quickly showing themselves a couple of clever comedians.

HAMMERSMITH PALACE.

Hetty King, the clever and popular male impersonator, is here, and on Monday she had a great reception with "The Dear Old Strand," followed by "What are the Wild Waves Saying?" She gave a delightful character sketch of a Highland soldier's return home, "Back Again on Old Scotland's Shores." Will Van Allen scored well with his quaint jokes and excellent banjo playing, his solo, "Should Married Men Work?" turning out a selection of high order. Miss Marjorie Fulton is a pleasing comedienne and dancer. Jane Croft, who was accompanied by Miss Erica Pierpoint, A.R.C.M., has a fine voice, and rendered with much taste "Back from the Land of Yesterday." In response to an enthusiastic encore, she gave another ballad.

Gaby Revette deserves the thanks of all lovers of Art for her reproduction in poses and colour shades of some eight notable paintings, including "The Angelus," "First Steps," "The Reverie," and others. The Mayne Stappers prove American specialty dancers of a high order, combining with the step dancing also a double dance of the now novel new style of ball-room dances. The audience would have liked more had time permitted. The Melody Makers give a very excellent show, including some refined humour, and a capital song, "Carry Along," and a novel sand dance. Mezzetti and Lushy give a much appreciated act. Pathé pictures on the bioscope were of much interest; and a good programme is concluded by Bave Lee with "I am a Husband," and Will Collinson in "The Piano Pushers."

CHELSEA PALACE.

There are many items of decided novelty and interest in the capital programme that Mr. Geo. Barran Andrews is submitting this week. Prominent on the musical side is the finished violin-playing of Elsie Southgate, her sister, Dorothy, admirably accompanying on the piano and organ. Particularly appreciated was the playing of "Lost Chord." The Ascots (Douglas and Ethel), in their pleasing singing and dancing act, gained great and deserved applause. Mention, too, must be made of the capital show, "A Happy Razzle," featured by the Four Kids. These charming ladies (actual sisters) provide a jolly and charming entertainment, especially good in their dancing and singing of "You Can't Buy Sunshine and the Twilight."

Mary Mayfren and Co. play with intensity the dramatic sketch, "Tornado" while Miss May Sheppard, described as the "new style comedienne," afforded much pleasure by her clever rendering of two songs, especially "He Traced my Little Footprints in the Sand." Liberal praise must be accorded the turn of Joan and Josie; their efforts as the crocodile and the lizard gained much applause. Lloyd Morgan is an artistic comedian, possessed of a good voice, which he used to advantage. Plenty of thrills, and at the same time comedy, figures in the work of those clever gymnasts, Ecardo Bros.; and excellent, up-to-date pictures were shown on the Bioscope.

Mr. Percy Briggs has taken over the King's Head (Basham's), the noted hostelry at Chigwell. The catering is excellent, and those motoring out from London are advised to call.

ROUND ABOUT FILMLAND.

Torquay and the Film Industry—"The Romance of Lady Hamilton"—New Super-Cinema and Winter Gardens.

Torquay and Picture-making. There have been numerous developments in Torquay and neighbourhood in the picture-making industry, to say nothing of the activities on the exhibiting side. The toll Company have been engaged in filming "The Rocks of Valpre" and "God's Good Man," both of which are shortly to be released. The light and atmosphere of Torquay are being increasingly recognised as most suitable for cinematography. This is evidenced by the fact that producers are taking studios for their interiors, whilst the variety of scenery outside—sea, moorland, town life, or whatever is required—supplies all the needs. Grangers' Exclusives, Ltd., have, we hear, taken a lease of the Bath Saloons at Torquay, whilst another company, the Reubenson Company, have acquired the Public Hall at Paignton for similar use. Mr. W. Bruce Hacking is the general manager of a new renting company Fleet Photoplays, Ltd., which has been formed, of which Mr. James P. Moore is chairman. The site of the new theatre at Torquay has been acquired for a new cinema, whilst the Burlington Buildings will shortly be converted into a picture house to be run in connection with Mr. G. Boulwood's house at Plymouth.

Innocent Eyes. Ruffels inform us that they have altered the title of the picture shown on Thursday afternoon at the West End Cinema from "Bread" to "Innocent Eyes." They will be showing this film privately in their own theatre at 8 and 9, Long Acre, at 3 o'clock today.

Lionel Phillips. The business of the Lionel Phillips Co., as we hear, developed so remarkably during the last six or eight months that a considerable extension of their organisation has been made necessary in order to cope with the great amount of detailed work involved. The office staff has necessarily been considerably augmented, and new offices are continually being opened in remote corners of the globe. In particular, the business with the Continent has shown so strong a tendency to expand that the firm is thought it well, in addition to having offices in France, Italy, Sweden, and Spain, to appoint a general European representative to be appointed to co-ordinate the work of the various branches, and to visit, and possibly open fresh offices in territories where they have not hitherto existed. For this purpose the Lionel Phillips Co. has been fortunate enough to secure the services of Mr. G. Anderson, an expert in matters, who is well known by reason of his connection with International Exclusive with Master Films, which is courteously releasing him to his important work.

Phillips. The "Famous Pictures" production, "The Romance of Lady Hamilton," of which the Phillips Film Co., Ltd., have, as already announced, acquired the United Kingdom rights, is to be introduced to the trade on Thursday, July 10, at the London Opera House, and exhibitors may expect to see on that occasion a subject which will throw a new light on several famous incidents in British history, and demonstrate that the personality of Lady Hamilton is one strong enough to ensure an absorbing public interest, quite apart from her association with Nelson. Though the subject was suggested by the splendid performance of Malvina Longfellow in the "Nelson" film, that national hero, we hear, plays but a small part in the present film, which consists of a detailed and historically accurate transcript of the career of the woman who, beginning life as a serving girl, became the wife of the British Ambassador at Naples, the intimate associate of kings and queens, and who, by her work for the common sailor, earned the title of "The Mother of the British Navy."

Hepworth. Hepworth Picture Plays, Ltd., announce that they will show "The Kinsman," by Mrs. Alfred Sidgwick, at the West End Cinema, on Tuesday, July 1, at 11.30 a.m. The production was written and produced for the screen by Henry Edwards, who plays a dual role in it. Miss Christie White, who wears some beautiful dresses, is the heroine; and Mr. James Carew and Miss Gwynne Herbert also have strong parts. "The Kinsman" is said to be a very elaborate production, both the interiors and exteriors being of the highest possible standard, and in keeping with the high reputation which Hepworths enjoy in this respect.

Invaluable to Film Producers. Mr. Louis Palgrave, the film agent, of 26, Charing Cross-road, whose advertisement on the front page of last week's "Era" has attracted so much attention, is a recently demobilised officer of the Royal Air Force. Mr. Palgrave started his agency for film artists only two months ago, but by giving careful attention to the demands of producers, and exercising a great discretion in his selection of artists, he has already built up a big connection, which, he informs us, has greatly increased since his advertisement last week. Mr. Palgrave claims that he can supply the best dressed "crowd" in London, and having every type of artist on his books, is never in any difficulty in filling a part.

Super Cinema and Winter Gardens. Mr. A. E. Abrahams, of Stratford, is building a Super Cinema and Winter

Gardens on his land known as Bourne House, Leytonstone.

Royal Visit to Leicester. The London Film Company are deserving of the highest commendation for the magnificent cinematograph reproduction of the Royal visit to Leicester, which was specially taken for the Picture House, Granby-street, Leicester, and was first shown at a private view, attended by the leading citizens of the town, on Thursday. The picturisation of this Royal visit is very complete, and during the forty minutes it took to run through a faithful reproduction of the scenes, from the arrival of Their Majesties to the completion, are clearly shown.

"A Sinless Sinner." Mr. Edward Godal, managing director of the British and Colonial Kinematograph Co., Ltd., announces that the second "B. & C." superfilm, starring Marie Doro, is reaching completion, and promises to be a worthy successor to "Twelve-Ten." The title of the film is "A Sinless Sinner." Miss Doro has, we hear, a part which suits her admirably, and which she portrays with that inimitable skill which has made her famous. Mr. Godfrey Tearle is playing the lead opposite to Marie Doro, while the heavy lead is played by Mr. Sam Livesey. A pathetic rôle is played by Miss Mary Jerrold, and the comedy character is in the hands of Miss Gladys Ffolliott. Miss Christine Maitland playing the second lead.

Fox. Theda Bara, the famous Fox star, will be seen in an unusual environment in the next Fox big production, "The Siren's Song," which they announce for the London Pavilion on Friday, the 20th. The scenes are laid in a fishing village of Brittany, and Miss Bara appears in the quaint, picturesque, peasant costume of that French province with the sea always splashing in the background. There is, we are told, beauty in every setting, and Miss Bara, who, as the humble peasant girl who passes through a great conflict of emotions, from the anguish caused by a wrecked romance to the triumph that comes with fame, is said to give one of the most dramatic performances of her career.

Granger's. There should be a big crowd at the West End Cinema next Tuesday (June 24), when Granger's will screen "Love's Bargain," a delightful play with Ethel Clayton in the star rôle. It is quite a new subject, for whilst the play deals with love and matrimonial differences, it shows a way whereby old-time troubles can be got over in an easy and agreeable way.

"HER GREAT CHANCE."

SHOPGIRL REFORMS WASTER.

Production Select Type Drama Star Alice Brady Length Five Reels Distributors Gaumont's Alice Brady gives a delightful performance in this film, which, with its fine photography and lighting effects, is a most attractive production. Lola Grey earns her living as a shop-girl in a big store. Among her friends is Charlie Cox, a wealthy young man gradually going to the dogs. Ignoring the insinuations of her colleagues, Lola joins Charlie and his friends in a dance given by the former at a country inn. Here Charlie proposes, but although she admits her love Lola refuses to allow him to marry a shopgirl. The evening finishes in the wildest fashion, the reports of the morning papers causing Cox senior to alter his will. Lola learns of this from her sister, a confidential stenographer, and immediately she accepts Charlie's offer of marriage. During the honeymoon the news of his father's death arrives, and Charlie is horrified at the thought that the wife he loves is married to a pauper. Lola, however, tells him that now his great chance has come, and together they will face life's trials. So away to the West go the honeymooners.

"THE EYES OF JULIA DEEP."

SHOP GIRL'S REFORMATION OF AN IDLER.

Production Flying A Type Comedy-Drama Star Mary Miles Minter Length Five Reels Distributors Astor Mary Miles Minter makes a most welcome return to the screen in "The Eyes of Julia Deep," which, with its fine photography, acting, and settings, is well up to the first Flying A's high standard. Julia Deep, working by day at Black's Stores, spends her evenings dreaming over books. In the same boarding-house lives Terry Hartbridge, who has just finished squandering his father's fortune. Meeting Julia, he is struck by the girl's sweetness, and to win her love finds work and saves money. Julia becomes the secretary of Sarah Lowe, a wealthy widow, who disapproves of Terry, and Timothy Black, an old friend of Terry's father, tells the boy to look among girls of his own set for a bride. So the couple decide to elope, and are pursued by their respective guardians to Plummettsville. Here commences a battle royal, the result being that the whole party spend the night in gaol. Terry and Julia again steal away, but this time they are not followed. Their quest in search of a clergyman is hopeless, and when they return it is to find the elder couple already married. The quarrel ends with the announcement by Black that the youngsters must prepare themselves for a really smart town wedding.

"A SOUL WITHOUT WINDOWS."

"SHAKER" GIRL'S MAGICAL INFLUENCE ON INVALID.

Production World Type Drama Star Ethel Clayton Length Five Reels Distributors Walker's Pictures A strong, gripping drama, this production will hold the interest of any audience. Found by the side of a dead woman, when a baby, Pama has been brought up by the "Shakers," a colony of God-fearing people who find the merry girl a sore trial to their patience. Near by lives Scott Malory, wealthy and good-looking. While rescuing his fiancée from drowning Scott injures his spine, and learns he will never be able to walk again. Embittered at the loss of his youth and health, the boy refuses to let the sunlight into his room, and lives the life of a hermit. His mother visits the "Shaker" home, and, struck with Pama's beauty, decides to adopt her. Pama's influence on Scott is magical, and after a successful operation he is able to walk. Afraid that her son may marry a nameless girl the mother hints to Pama that Scott loves another. She runs away, and owing to her gift of music becomes famous while playing at a concert. She is recognised by a friend of Scott's—Faith Palmer. The girl tells her father, who, after speaking to Pama, makes the amazing discovery that she is his daughter, who was lost while travelling with a nurse.

"THE ETERNAL MAGDALENE"

THE PROBLEM THAT HAS EXISTED THROUGH THE AGES.

Production Goldwyn Stars Maxine Elliott, Charles Dalton Type Drama Length Five Reels Distributors The Stoll Co., Ltd. Release Dec. 15 "The Eternal Magdalene" was screened by the Stoll Film Co. at the London Opera House recently. The story deals with the attempt by the leading citizens of a model city to drive out immoral influences by force. Led by Robert Bradshaw, who favours the engagement of a celebrated revivalist named Wainaday, they prepare a campaign. The only ob-jector to the scheme is a young clergyman who draws for them a vision of the Magdalene, her treatment by the Pharisees, and the judgment of Christ, who bade her "go and sin no more." His arguments fall on deaf ears, and Bradshaw, triumphant, returns to his home. Here he learns of the fall of his own young daughter, owing to his having refused her marriage to his secretary, Rennold. In anger, he tells her to leave her home, and later falls asleep in his chair. Dreaming, he is led by the eternal Magdalene and shown the results of his harshness. The vision is a lesson to him, and on awaking he forgives his daughter, consents to her immediate marriage, and decides to obtain reform by milder methods. The production, as regards photography and acting, is in every way worthy of the former Goldwyn pictures, and Maxine Elliott plays a difficult part with taste and discretion.

"A WIFE WITH A PAST."

SHADOWS OF THE PAST CLOUDING A YOUNG WIFE'S HAPPINESS.

Production Selected Photo-plays, Ltd., Transatlantic Production Type Domestic Drama Stars Priscilla Dean and Harry Carter Length 5,000 Feet

This thrilling emotional drama, screened at the West End Cinema recently, has a pretty Christmasy setting, and with its perfect photography and fine lighting effects, is altogether a really excellent production. Jim Brockton, a wealthy bachelor, has three interests in life, viz., his nephew Donald, his three old friends known as "the Trinity," and his faithful canine friend "Lady." His good-heartedness has earned him the appellation of "The Beloved Jim." Now nephew Donald, beset by being a scapegrace intent on springing his wild oats, is a craven cur, who does not hesitate to inveigle his fiancée, Mary, the adopted daughter of "The Trinity," into a compromising position, and then, stung by her rebuffs, to boast openly of his supposititious conquest. Time passes, and Mary becomes Jim's dearly loved wife. All goes well till Donald comes to spend Christmas with his uncle, and tries to trade upon his past friendship with Mary, and, but for the friendly interposition of a derelict old man rescued from the gutter by Jim's philanthropy, sorrow and suffering would have ensued for all concerned. As it is, Donald is forced to confess his dastardly schemes, and Jim and Mary are reunited. Priscilla Dean acts with charm and emotional ability as Mary, and Harry Carter presents a forceful portrait of the altruistic but, when need be, stern Jim Brockton.

"THE SECRET X."

STORY OF POLITICAL INTRIGUE.
Production .. Messrs. William Fox, Ltd.
Type Melodrama
Star Madeline Taverne
Length Five Parts

A stirring plot was revealed in "The Secret X," the latest of the Fox big productions, and screened on Tuesday, the 3rd inst., at the Alhambra. Henriette Renouard is married to a literary dreamer, Pierre, and heartily impatient of his obscurity. A meeting with Paul Verrier, the editor of "Le Courrier," leads to her acquaintance with the brilliant statesman, Jacques Dulac. Though apparently an ardent statesman, Dulac is in league with the Secret X, a society organised to undermine the peace of European countries. Dulac is attracted by Henriette, and, realising her ambitious character, eventually secures her divorce and marries her. Three years later, tempted by his friend, Aga Bey, he agrees with Henriette's advice to betray his country for a huge sum of money. Directly signed, the paper vanishes mysteriously, and is taken by the former wife of Dulac to Paul Verrier. Henriette goes to Verrier, and on his refusal to yield the document, shoots him, but fails to secure the paper. By Dulac's influence Henriette is acquitted, but he himself and Aga Bey are betrayed, and condemned to death. The story is a gloomy one, but so powerfully acted by Madeline Taverne, and the strong cast supporting her, that it carries its audience with it spellbound by the sheer grip of situation and effective photography.

"HEARTS ASLEEP."

A THEORY PUT TO A PRACTICAL TEST.

Production National
Type Drama
Star Bessie Barriscale
Length Five Reels
Distributors Jury's

"Hearts Asleep" contains all the qualities which go to the making of a successful film, and it also supplies Bessie Barriscale with a rôle worthy of her reputation as a star actress. Nancy is an orphan who, from an early age, has been adopted by Mother Hawkins, a denizen of the underworld. Nancy refuses to become a thief, preferring to scrub the floors of an apartment house. Here lives John Lewis, who contends that environment is of more importance in developing a true lady than the possession of a host of blue-blooded ancestors. Mother Hawkins transfers Nancy to Chi, a crook, but while a robbery is in progress she escapes, and appeals for assistance to Lewis. He determines to prove his theory regarding environment, and requests Nancy's aid. She consents to be sent to a finishing school, and five years later we find a remarkable improvement has been effected, and that this young girl has made many friends. At a house party she comes face to face with Chi, just out of prison. He threatens her with death the instant she opens her mouth as to his identity, and to prevent him removing the family jewels Nancy follows them herself. In the search which follows she is condemned as guilty by all but Lewis. However, Chi is eventually exposed by a deceived lady of his acquaintance, and he is shot while attempting to escape. Nancy eventually becomes the wife of John Lewis.

"WHITEWASHED WALLS."

AN ESCAPE FROM DEATH AT THE ELEVENTH HOUR.

Production National
Type Drama
Star William Desmond
Length Five Reels

In this Mexican story the scenes are mostly exteriors, bathed in dazzling sunlight, the excellence of the photography making a decidedly favourable impression. Larry Donovan, a happy-go-lucky young architect, is engaged in building a handsome palace in a little-known Mexican kingdom. During a Fourth of July party Larry is charged with the murder of an important personage, and is sentenced to be shot. In reality the "personage" is very much alive, but makes pretence that he is dead in order that the chief in command may be accused of the death of an innocent man, and thus lose his position. However, by hinting that the palace will never be finished if they take his life, Larry gains a week's reprieve. He accomplishes a lot in this week, finally falling in love with a local beauty. When he is again led to the whitewashed wall Larry is in possession of a loaded revolver, and is enabled to change the situation completely. The "personage" has by this time returned to life, and the chief in command sees through the plot. And so it comes about that Larry is pardoned, and leaves for America with his bonny bride.

"A LITTLE BIT OF FLUFF."

A FILM THAT WILL MAKE MILLIONS LAUGH.

Type Comedy
Star Dorothy Minto
Length Five Reels
Distributors Ruffell's

The second trade show of "A Little Bit of Fluff" was given last Friday by Ruffell's, who have bought this highly amusing production. The acting in the film is very clever. The absence of dialogue in a piece of this description often results in an absence of humour, but Miss Dorothy Minto, Mr. Ernest Thesiger, and the other members of the cast insure otherwise for a "Little Bit of Fluff," which abounds in laughs. "Q" films are to be congratulated on this, their first production. The task they attempted was not easy, but the result is another triumph for British producers.

MARVELS OF THE UNIVERSE.

REMARKABLE SERIES OF ANIMAL STUDIES.

Production National
Type Educational
Length One Reel
Distributors Granger's

A large audience showed keen appreciation of this series of educational subjects submitted by Granger's. In an interesting speech, we were told that these particular "marvells" were made especially for schools, and that great care has been taken in the choosing of subjects that will educate and also interest the younger generation. The first reel is devoted to the seal, and many picturesque studies have been "shot," the one showing the departure of the "bulls" for their yearly holiday and their deserted families in the background, being quaint. The next reel shows us the warm welcome our broken heroes meet when they arrived in Switzerland, Germany. A most interesting subject that of the force but majestic stag, animal's disposition undergoes a complete change when the yearly event of the ice his antlers takes place. In a few months there are signs of a fresh growth, gradually the docile beast regains his spirit. Many beautiful Alpine scenes also included, together with a wonderful picture of the African and Indian elephants.

"STAGE STRUCK."

AMBITIOUS GIRL'S EXPERIENCES OF MR. BOGUS.

Production Western Import
Star Dorothy Gish
Type Drama
Length Five Parts
Penelope Marlowe, the assumed name of a young girl who has a yearning for the stage, leaves home with little more than the bare fee for the dramatic school, and soon discovers that ambition alone will not pay for her board. She meets Jack Morris, and the two strike up a friendship, and are eventually married, on the understanding that Penelope shall follow her calling for a time. The manager leaves her and her companion stranded in a remote village. But a young detective, who had joined the troupe in order to get first-hand evidence of the fraudulent nature of the undertaking, soon tracks the fugitive, and he is arrested. Penelope returns home penniless, and, unable to find her husband, contemplates suicide. Eventually, however, she meets Jack, who had been vainly searching for her, and then discovers that after all her stage experiences have not been altogether wasted, as she has met and married a rich man, who genuinely reciprocates her love. The acting was admirable.

"THE SECRET CODE."

THRILLING SPY DRAMA.

Production Western Import
Star Gloria Swanson
Type Drama
Length Five Parts
Miss Wallins, a spy, is posing as the friend of Senator Rand, an elderly man, who had married a young girl, nearly wrecks his happiness, and betrays his country to the enemy. She does this so skillfully that she diverts suspicion from herself, and weaves such a chain of circumstantial evidence against Rand's young wife that it appears clear that the latter is not only a traitor, but unfaithful. This is done mainly by adapting a crocheted pattern scheme belonging to Mrs. Rand into a code, which, when knitted into mufflers sent to prisoners of war, inform the enemy of the whereabouts of transports. The pattern is recognised by Senator Rand as in his wife's handwriting, and he fears the worst. But the real traitor is finally discovered. The plot is evolved in skilful manner, several highly dramatic situations being finely acted.

"PRISONERS OF THE PINES."

TRAVELLING THE ROUGH ROAD OF TEMPTATION AND TRIBULATION TO THE FINAL GOAL OF HAPPINESS.

Production Ward's Films
Type Drama
Star J. Warren Kerrigan
Length 5,000 Feet
This Robertson-Cole masterpiece, of which a trade show was given on Thursday last, at the West End Cinema, was greeted with loud applause by a critical audience. Hilaire, a handsome young Frenchman, the hero of the story, poses his trade as a trapper, among a motley assortment of men, in the grandeur and solitude of the pine woods, whence the roads are impassable till the advent of spring. He loves, and is beloved, by Rosalie, a winsome forest girl, who lives with her aged father, and has many admirers. At length they decide to marry, despite their scanty fortune. He yields to the temptation to gamble, and, moreover, falls a victim to the fatal fascination of the bar decoy, Louise. At first she helps him to recover his fortune, of which he has been robbed, being genuinely in love with him; but, later on, roused to fury by his scorn, she plots his ruin. Eventually he is hauled before a magistrate, who restores him to the arms of his loving and faithful wife and child. Besides the capitally filmed pictures of the exciting scenes and incidents of the drama, the views depicting the forest wedding, and especially an exquisitely tinted photograph of the finish, deserve mention. As Hilaire, Mr. J. Warren Kerrigan acts with artistic finish.

"BREAD."

A STORY OF A HUNGRY SOUL.
Production Ruffell's
Type Drama
Star Mary MacLaren
Length About 5,000 Feet
This charming film, the title of which, we hear, is to be altered to "Innocent Eyes," concerns the harrowing experiences of a stage-struck girl, who falls into the hands of a disreputable actress and her still more shady sponsor, the infamous theatrical manager, Emil Kruse. He lures her to New York to exploit her beauty, but, happily, she attracts the secret admiration of the playwright, Arnold Train, who is inspired by her to write a play, "Innocent Eyes," successfully produced by Kruse. In a powerful scene this old star and his mistress insult Candace Newbury, the heroine, beyond endurance, and she flees from them. When reduced to the verge of starvation, and after a vain appeal to her former millionaire lover, Dick Prothingham, she is rescued from her predicament by Arnold Train, who eventually marries her, and brings her out as the leading lady in his play. The scenes are capably photographed, especially those in smart restaurants, and Estelle's flat, and there is delightful incidental music by Mous. Lane. Beautiful Mary MacLaren acts with charming spontaneity and pathetic intensity as the stage-struck heroine, Candace.

"WHY I WOULD NOT MARRY."

CRYSTAL WARNS GIRL OF UNHAPPY WEDDED LIFE.
Production William Fox
Type Drama
Star All-star cast
Length Five Reels
It is seldom any finds a film so excellent in story, acting, and photography as the latest Fox winner. Lucy Fox plays distinctly different roles, and makes good in them all. Adele Moore is in the difficult position of having to choose her husband from four suitors. Before deciding, Adele invests in a crystal in order to peep into the future. Gradually she sees herself as Dick Martin's wife, forced to buy her husband's freedom from jail, at a terrible price. The villain respects the sacrificing wife, and forgives Martin, but the insult Adele has suffered causes her to leave her husband. The next vision finds the girl as the wife of Houghton, a millionaire. Happiness vanishes when she discovers that her husband is a thief, another man having paid the price of his sin. The crystal foretells even a worse fate should she accept either of the two remaining suitors, so Adele determines to remain single, and become rich by the works of her own brain.

"DAWN OF UNDERSTANDING."

ORPHAN'S ENDEAVOUR TO SAVE WORTHLESS ACROBAT.

Production Vitagraph
Type Drama
Star Bessie Love
Length Five Reels
Bessie Love makes an ideal little heroine in this interesting production, which is a Western story, with many attractive features. Sue Prescott, with her sick mother, is journeying across the plains. The mother dies on the way, and Sue finds shelter at the farm of Ira Beasley, one of nature's gentlemen.

During the visit of a circus she is attracted by Jim Wynd, a good-looking but unprincipled acrobat. In a quarrel over cards Jim shoots his boss and escapes into the prairie. By appealing to the romantic nature of Sue he gains her sympathy, and she hides him in a loft. The sheriff tracks his man as far as the farm, where he is attracted by pretty Sue. In a jealous rage, fires at the sheriff, but the latter is wounded by a shot from Wynd's gun. After a chase the acrobat is caught and condemned to be hung. Ira also gives himself up, but is saved by Sue, who explains that as a precaution she had unloaded his rifle. Wynd pays the penalty of his first crime, and Sue and Ira return happily to the farm.

"JOSELYN'S WIFE."

HOW THE MYSTERY OF AN OLD MAN'S DEATH WAS CLEARED UP.

Production National
Type Drama
Star Bessie Barriscale
Length Five Reels
Distributors Jury's
Jury's have been turning out some extremely fine films lately, but "Joselyn's Wife" is an easy winner. In addition to Bessie Barriscale's delightful acting the story is full of action, with an effective ending. The settings, from an artistic point of view, are perfect, and the photography remarkably clear throughout. In a small house in Port Washington lives

Ellen Latimer, a lover of the beautiful in Nature. Glad of a change, Ellen accepts the offer of a wealthy friend to join a house-party. Here she meets Gibbs Joselyn, a young artist, who is estranged from his father because of the latter's marriage with Lillian, a woman young in years but old in wickedness. Gibbs and Ellen fall in love, and before leaving for Europe are married. Five years later the couple return, and a reconciliation with Gibbs' father follows. Although happy in the love of her little boy, Tommy, Ellen's heart slowly breaks when she realises that Gibbs is gradually being lured away by the artist Lillian. The father interferes, and after a quarrel the elder man is found shot through the heart. Gibbs is convicted of the murder, and imprisoned for life. But through listening to little Tommy's prattle Ellen learns that while playing soldiers with Grandpa a gun had exploded, and thus the mystery is solved. Gibbs is forgiven by his wife, and the happy trio repair to sunny California.

"Dare Devil Diana."

This Pasquall film, featuring Mile. Bonard, which has been acquired by the New Bio., and has so much sensation, as well as beauty, will, we hear, be shown at the West End Cinema on July 14 at 11.15. It is claimed that this film is even better than "Sansonia," and this circumstance should attract a large audience of exhibitors.
